Duke 'must fight back' at sex claim

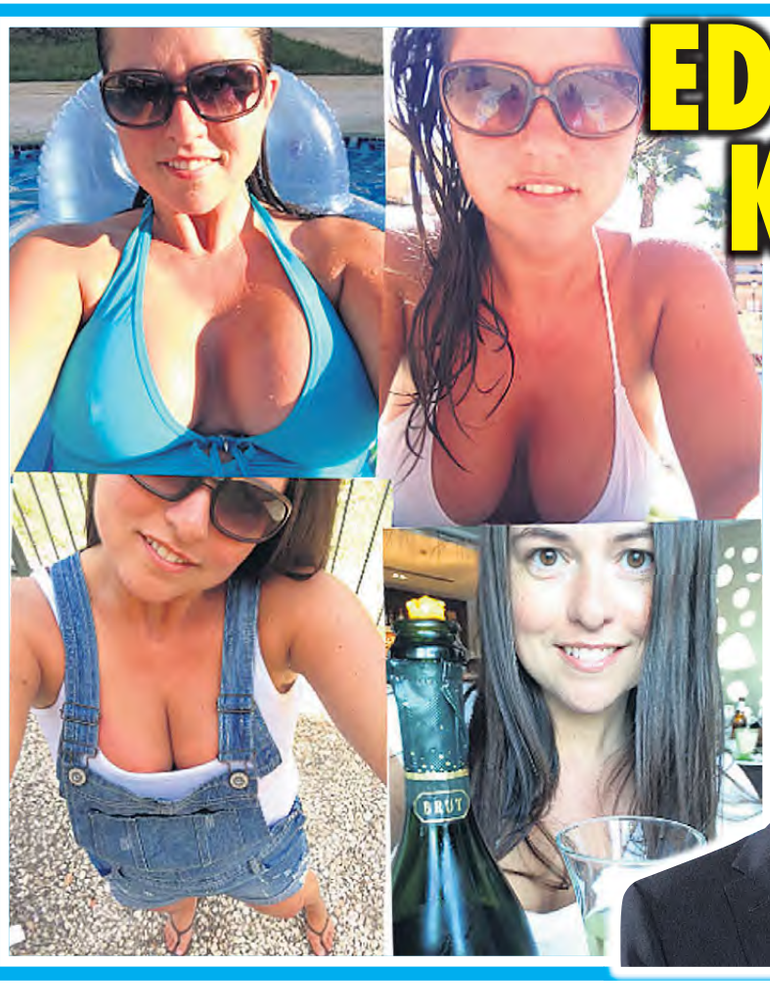
PRINCE Andrew is being urged to fight back with "every ounce of energy" against allegations made in U.S. court documents by a woman who claimed she was forced to have sex with him while she was still a minor.

Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz – who is also named in the court papers – said the claims against him were part of a pattern of "made-up stories" by the woman and her lawyers against prominent people.

He told the BBC Radio 4 Today show: "You cannot allow these allegations to hang above you. The first question you have to ask yourself when you are charged with a crime like this is 'Is there any conceivable possibility you did it?' and if the answer to that is 'no', you have to fight back with every resource and ounce of energy available to you."

Buckingham Palace took the unusual step of releasing a strongly-worded statement categorically denying any impropriety by the Duke of York with underage minors.

The woman's claim is part of a lawsuit in connection with U.S. billionaire and convicted paedophile Jeffrey Epstein, a former friend of the Duke.



ED'S GOT HIS KNOCKERS!

Labour boss blasted by MP's busty missus

AN MP's wife who blasted her husband's Labour bosses has released a new set of busty selfies.

Karen Danczuk, 31, said the party had been "hijacked by middle class do-gooders and career politicians".

She added on Twitter that they have "no idea what it's like to be working class".

The tirade by Karen – a councillor in Rochdale where she is wed to the town's MP Simon Danczuk, 48 – was seen as a swipe at Ed Miliband.

Top political commentator Guido Fawkes blogged: "Karen Danczuk kindly took a few moments out from her holiday in Spain to send Guido these exclusive snaps from the pool, revealing her New Year's resolutions are to 'take on new challenges, live each day like it's my last and to continue my weight loss'."

A Labour insider said: "Ed Miliband can't handle a bacon butty – he'd probably start to cry if he was asked to handle Mrs Danczuk's huge tits!"

HUNDREDS MOURN BIN LORRY VICTIMS

LAST JOURNEY: Tragic family's coffins at service

A FUNERAL service for three members of the same family who were killed in the Glasgow bin lorry crash heard how their loved ones have suffered "tragedy on tragedy, sadness on sadness".

Up to 1,000 mourners joined together to pay a final tribute to teenager Erin McQuade and her grandparents Jack Sweeney, 68, and Lorraine Sweeney, 69.

The three, all from Dumbarton, were on a Christmas shopping trip when an out-of-control refuse vehicle ploughed into pedestrians in Glasgow city centre three days before Christmas.

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

Jacqueline McQuade is thought to have gone to withdraw money from a cash machine when her 18-year-old daughter and parents were fatally injured.

Some 700 people packed in to St Patrick's RC Church in Dumbarton for a joint requiem mass for the teenager and her grandparents, with hundreds more mourners outside.

Erin's brothers Liam, 15, and Aiden, 14, and sister Niamh, six, were all at the service, with their mum Jacqueline, 43, and father Matthew, 49.

Six people were killed and 10 more injured after the lorry careered out of control in the city's Queen Street on December 22

The private church service was led by the Archbishop of Glasgow, who previously told a memorial mass that he wept with the woman who saw her teenage daughter and both parents die almost in front of her.

Yesterday he told how the accident had piled "tragedy on tragedy and sadness on sadness" on the family, but added: "They died as they lived – together."

Investigations into the crash continue.

Jodie: I use my sex face for selfies!

BUSTY beauty Jodie Marsh has revealed her guide to posing for saucy SELFIES!

The top-heavy 30E lovely urges women to do a 'sex face' and push their boobs together if they want to go down a storm on Twitter and Instagram.

Jodie, who is no stranger to uploading snaps of her jaw-dropping cleavage, said: "The key to a good selfie is to make a sex face. And you have to do something with your hands, push your boobs together, otherwise you just look weird!"

Jodie recently shared snaps of her posing with a hunky bloke as part of her JST Jodie fitness equipment enterprise.

And the 36-year-old, who has been celibate for four years, says she struggled to suppress her natural urges.

She added: "It was difficult – it did turn me on.

"For a lot of the naked shots he wore a sock over his cock. I didn't want his penis touching me!

"I'll only bring the celibacy to an end when I fall in love."

Millie's pole plan to give Prof pleasure

FORMER Made In Chelsea star Millie Mackintosh has revealed she's keen to take up pole-dancing.

The posh babe wants to get her already slim figure looking even hotter.

Unsurprisingly, Millie reckons her hubby, rapper Professor Green, will love the idea.

Millie (above), 25, confessed: "I'm going to take up pole-dancing next year – for strictly fitness purposes only!"

And she says her 31-year-old other half, whose real name is Stephen Manderson, is chuffed.

She added: "Stephen will be fine with it as long as I have lessons in a studio and not in a strip club!

"He'll not be pleased if I attach a pole to the ceiling so I can practise at home – so I'll definitely not be doing that."

A PILOT successfully lands a jumbo jet at Gatwick despite a problem with its landing gear.

GANGS of eastern Europeans are using budget airlines to fly into the UK to commit crime sprees before flying out again – says a top police chief.

These scumbags deserve to be locked up in degrading inhuman conditions, patrolled by merciless guards and deprived of decent food, water and sleep.

The trouble is, after flying Ryanair they won't notice the difference.

WEDNESDAY

NEW Year's Eve sees thousands pack the streets of central London for a firework display.

They even paid for their tickets, the mugs.

In any other city, we'd just look up and watched them for free. Unfortunately, Londoners can't do that just in case they accidentally make eye contact with a stranger.

THURSDAY

SCOTTISH Police are criticised for investigating Katie Hopkins, a columnist in a downmarket newspaper, for making jokes about the Glaswegian nurse who caught Ebola.

On his wages, you'd think he could afford to just buy the sofa right now.

People say football will lack role models without Gerrard but at least the sport still has plenty of roll models. They can roll joints, roll around the pitch after the slightest contact and roll over a barely conscious woman when it is their turn for a go.

BUCKINGHAM Palace denies allegations that Prince Andrew had sex with an American teenage girl who was below the age of consent in her home state.

I agree. The chances of an upstanding British royal feeling up a minor are about the same as one feeling for a miner. Nil.

Magaluf declared 'mature tourist zone' in crackdown on drunken excess

Mallorcan resort wants to get rid of its image as a place for sexually charged debauchery, especially among young Britons

BARE boobs bouncing in the street, live sex shows and enough grog to make a pirate go to Alcoholics Anonymous.

These are just a few of the reasons why a million Brits flock to the Majorcan party mecca Magaluf every year, seeking sun, sex and saucy shenanigans.

But all that's about to be BANNED under a brutal new clampdown by snooty Spanish officials. If you want fun, you'll have to travel elsewhere.

Authorities in the Calvia municipality want our beach-bonking paradise to be turned into a "mature tourist zone" for more refined clients.

Barf-drenched bar crawls will be replaced by blue-rinsed OAPs taking a relaxing sunset stroll down the promenade.

Bars and clubs that once featured wet T-shirt parties and paddling pool wrestling will be forced to shut their doors at midnight.

Anyone caught drinking in the street will be behind bars. Meanwhile, Spain's Civil Guard – a no-nonsense military force charged with cop duties – will be on hand to round up fun-lovers.

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

Deputy mayor Álvaro Gijón moaned: "We said to ourselves, 'We don't want this kind of tourist any more'.

"It wouldn't occur to us to go to Piccadilly Circus and start singing in our swimsuits with 50 of our friends while drinking cheap alcohol out of a bucket."

Minge

If Magaluf does turn its back on the UK's wild holidaymakers, they will be missing out on a whopping £650million a YEAR in revenue.

It comes after two incidents in 2014 left the world stunned. A video released online showed an 18-year-old Irish girl giving BLOWJOBS to 24 men in order to win a bottle of £4 wine.

Another vid showed a couple enjoying doggystyle sex in the street in broad daylight behind parked cars. The saucy footage climaxed with the chap romantically handing his conquest a tissue before she wiped his man-muck from her minge.

Spain has a long history of putting the mockers on fun. In 1952, the Spanish dictator Franco banned LAUGHING during working hours.

SUNDAY Sport SAYS...

GOING to Magaluf and being horrifically sick on your new trainers is as much a rite of passage as getting your driving licence or fingering your first bird behind the bike shed.

What these stuffy lawmakers are doing is trying to erase an entire way of life – albeit a booze-soaked, hangover-laden one.

You can launch a crackdown all you want, but you won't change human nature. Those who seek sun, sex and sand will simply ditch Majorca and head somewhere else instead, jetting to up-and-coming party destinations like Croatia and Bulgaria.

And when Magaluf's bars and restaurants start closing because the paying tourists have turned tail, they'll be welcoming back our loveable drunks, and bulging wallets, with open arms.

Stoke's Huth drops bollock with trannies

STOKE defender Robert Huth has been forced to apologise for playing a game called COCK OR NO COCK on Twitter.

The always-up-for-a-laugh FA is investigating after Huth responded to the Twitter account which posts sexual images of individuals.

The account invites users of the social media site to guess from cropped photographs of people in XXX-rated poses whether those pictured have male or female genitalia.

A series of tweets posted from Huth's official account showed the 30-year-old German playing the game (below).

Huth posted a message saying: "Clearly no offence was meant or directed to anyone, but apologies if I've offended anyone".

He had already received criticism from tranny activists.

One Twitter user, @queenthingy, griped: "It is clear that @stokecity cannot allow @robert_huth to continue his transphobic adventures. Club being put into disrepute."

Another, @infurious-beauty, tromboned: "People might want to consider asking @stokecity football club why their player @robert_huth thinks it's okay to bully trans people online."

Wee problem for 999 callers

POLICE in Devon and Cornwall have begged the public to 'think carefully' before dialling 999 this year after one caller asked 'Is it illegal to pee in my garden if I am being watched by a spy drone?'

THE VOICE OF YOUR BRITAIN

Crazy Kim could take us to Hell

AS we emerge, blinking, into a brave new year it seems rather churlish to focus on the dangers the coming 12 months may bring us.

But the fact remains that Britain is in grave peril.

The forces of international terrorism lurk in the more squalid corners of our inner cities.

The Russian bear – prodded by the sticks of a collapsing economy and international isolation – may yet lash out with savage claws.

But it is the risk from the tiny, tinpot, socialist hellhole of North Korea that should trouble our slumbers.

North Korea's dictator, Kim Jong-Un, may be just out of his teens. He may live a fantasy life that is easy to mock. He may have a hilarious obsession with "clown porn".

But the evil geniuses of his electronic warfare divisions could yet plunge us into a new Dark Age.

We hope our dire warnings on pages 10 and 11 of this newspaper never become reality.

But we must brace ourselves for the awful truth that they could.

Dame Moan Collins – we salute you!

THERE are many who sneer at Britain's honours system – criticising it as elitist, old-fashioned and out of touch.

Here at Sunday Sport, we have no time for such negative sentiments.

And we particularly salute the elevation of Miss Joan Collins to the rank of Dame.

Only in a modern, forward-thinking, liberal democracy could the star of low-rent grumble flicks such as The Bitch and The Stud be hoisted to the near-nobility.

It is our duty, as free-born Britons, to pay tribute to Dame Joan by watching one of her more fleshy movies – and firing off a little salty salute.

Footie ace Nev learns how to make...coffee!

PAMPERED footballer Phil Neville says he only learned how to make a cup of coffee last week!

The ex-Manchester United, Everton and England midfielder openly admits being an overpaid Premier League star meant he "lived in a bubble".

During an interview on BBC Radio Five Live, the 37-year-old (above) confessed: "I made my first coffee three days ago. Not sampled, I've actually MADE a cup of coffee. We're talking instant. Two little scoops of coffee in a cup.

"Someone came round to my house and asked for a cup of coffee. I sprinted to the kitchen, rang my wife and said, 'How the hell do I make a cup of coffee?' and she told me. I'd made a cup of tea before. I've lived in a bubble all my life."

After being ribbed by host Mark Chapman, embarrassed Phil added: "It's a football programme...Let's talk about football!"

'Killer' puppy owner beaten

AN idiot dog owner who called his new puppy 'Ebola' has been beaten up while shouting the pooch's name in a park.

Hapless animal lover Mark McCurdy, 22, suffered a broken nose, a fractured cheekbone and torn earlobe during the attack in north Glasgow.

The city is currently reeling following news that local nurse Pauline Cafferkey has been diagnosed with the first case of Ebola on UK soil.

Unemployed Mark, who's since been discharged from hospital following his twatting on New Year's Eve, admits he could have chosen a better moniker for his Labrador pup.

He said: "I just thought it was funny. The word 'Ebola' has a nice ring to it. But I obviously didn't think it through, and when I began shouting, 'Come here, Ebola! Fetch, Ebola!' several people remonstrated with me. Things got out of hand, punches were thrown, and I ended up bleeding."

Fluffy 'Ebola' has since been renamed 'Nessie'.

'Ebola nun's flesh flew off her bones as she writhed in agony'

BY TOP SCIENTIST WHO DISCOVERED THE HELL DISEASE

THE man who first identified the deadly Ebola virus – which is now here in the UK – has described how it made one of its earliest victims virtually EXPLODE.

The news comes as British nurse Pauline Cafferkey, 39, is being treated in an isolation unit in London after falling ill when she returned from Sierra Leone, where she'd been helping victims of the latest outbreak.

As Sunday Sport went to press last night Pauline's condition was described as 'critical'.

Since it re-emerged in West Africa a year ago, the virus has killed more than 7,800 people.

Named after the river that runs near to the Zaire town of Yambuku, where it was first identified, Ebola is thought to be carried by fruit bats, a regional delicacy.

It kills up to 90 per cent of those it infects – and spreads by direct contact with body fluids such as the BLOOD or SEMEN of an infected human or animal. There's no vaccine commercially available yet.

It was discovered in 1976 by Belgian virologist Professor Peter Piot, who told how he came across it in Zaire in a BBC Radio 4 docu-drama which was broadcast last month...

By JUSTIN DUNN
justin@sundaysport.co.uk

FRONTLINE: Nurse at the graves of a few of the many Ebola has claimed

EXPERT: Prof Piot in Zaire with his team

"A NURSE at Yambuku Mission Hospital, who had treated a man who'd died after suffering internal and external bleeding after eating antelope and monkey meat, was herself taken ill.

"Sister Miriam noticed she had a headache, a particularly bad headache, rising fever, soreness in the throat and difficulty in swallowing.

"She complained of stomach pain, and they moved her to a bigger hospital in the capital, Kinshasa.

"It was getting worse. There was bleeding, internal and external. She was isolated. They didn't know what was wrong.

"Something terrible was happening inside Sister Miriam. The unknown virus that had entered her bloodstream had started to replicate itself in ever increasing millions, causing small blood clots to form and block the flow.

"Blood supply was seriously blocked to the brain, intestines, the soft organs and the skin, which became as delicate as tissue paper and started to weep blood."

HORRIFIC: Ebola victim's skin erupts before their inevitable death

The virus took hold of the nurse's body and she began to suffer terribly, Prof Piot said. The flesh flew off her bones as she writhed in agony.

He explained: "Sister Miriam's face lost feeling as tiny haemorrhages erupted under the skin. The collagen lost integrity and began to bubble up in white spots.

Splattering

"As the virus spread, the soft tissue and the sinew that secured the organs came under attack. The surface of her tongue sloughed off, as did the lining of her stomach.

"She began to bleed internally, the blood now unable to clot flooding the body cavities and causing bleeding from every orifice, including her eyes.

"The skeleton alone seemed to be inviolate, but the rest of the patient around it was turning to slime. The brain – denied blood and short-circuiting frantically – induced seizures, scattering the blood, decaying tissue and mucus, and splattering the walls of her hospital room and anyone standing close."

He continued: "Consciousness had mercifully long deserted Sister Miriam before she died.

"The mystery virus that had brought about her miseries was however still active in the dissolving tissue, still replicating, still searching for the tiniest imaginable pinprick or even the unprotected surface of the eye. That was all it would need to enter the bloodstream of a new host, and another new host, and after that, the teeming city of Kinshasa – and the world."

The World Health Organisation says the number of people infected by Ebola in Sierra Leone, Liberia and Guinea has now passed 20,000.

Nurse Cafferkey's case has raised questions about the screening process in place for passengers leaving West Africa and arriving at Heathrow.

The chief medical officer for England, Dame Sally Davies, said Nurse Cafferkey had been in the early phase of the disease when she made the journey back to the UK and her fellow passengers were at "very low risk" of being infected.

She said: "The public health risk is negligible – Ebola's difficult to catch."

BEARDS BEAT BONKS

MILLIONS of men would rather give up sex than shave off their facial hair, according to a new study.

Around 30 per cent would go without a bonk or alcohol for a month or coffee for a whole year before losing their beloved beards.

Meanwhile, just one in 17 men (six per cent) say bearded celebrities define their style, the research by grooming experts Remington found.

BOOBS YEAR!

The topless babes who'll make 2015 go with a bounce

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

IT'S official, folks: 2015 is going to be a bumper year for blockbuster BOOBS!

Because we can reveal that the biggest flicks feature the BEST bustin' out babes in Hollywood.

From the latest Bond film Spectre to the final instalment in the high-octane Mission: Impossible franchise, it's already shaping up to be a cracking line-up.

And let's not forget the kinky adaptation of 50 Shades of Grey, which is already expected to be the RUDEST thriller of the year.

So, to celebrate, here's the best topless moments from the sizzling stars of 2015 – in their full and UNCENSORED glory!

SPECTRE

MONICA BELLUCCI

LEA SEYDOUX

THE latest Bond movie starring Daniel Craig was announced last year, and fans were quickly drooling over the MI6 agent's femme fatales.

Skyfall* director Sam Mendes revealed that Monica Bellucci, 50, and Lea Seydoux, 29, would be the new Bond girls – making Spectre's line-up one of the sexiest EVER!

Both girls have appeared totally NUDE: Lea in lesbo drama Blue is the Warmest Colour, and Monica in, well, EVERYTHING!

CHARLIZE THERON

ROSIE HUNTINGTON WHITELY

THE nerve-shredding remake of Mad Max has got to be the most explosive road movie of the year…and here's the boobs that will be DRIVING you wild!

Oscar-winning babe Charlize Theron, 39, gave us a cheeky glimpse of her perky pair in comedy Head in the Clouds.

And the film also stars stunning supermodel Rosie Huntington-Whiteley, 27, has flashed her boobs for several raunchy photoshots.

JURASSIC WORLD

KATIE McGRATH

IT'S been 22 years since the catastrophic events of Jurassic Park and a corporation has built another dinosaur theme park in Central America.

But after a genetic experiment goes wrong, a hybrid dino ends up running wild on the island.

Keep an eye out for Katie McGrath, 31, who previously stripped off in naughty TV mini-series Labyrinth in 2012.

Sexy Susan 'frisky with whisky' hint

UNLIKELY sex symbol Susan Boyle has hinted she gets RANDY when she's had a drink!

The portly Britain's Got Talent runner-up might not be the first person you associate with boozy sex, but the 53-year-old Scot might just be a dark horse in the bedroom.

The Wild Horses crooner even joked she's had to try and CURB her raging libido.

She explained: "My drink of choice used to be brandy and lemonade, but there's a rhyme that goes, 'Brandy make you randy, whisky makes you frisky'.

"So I stopped drinking brandy and started having a wee dram instead!"

Incredibly, it's not the first time Susan has been at the centre of an X-rated nookie scandal – in 2009 an LA PORN company offered her $1m to get scuttled on camera.

Exploding nuclear power st onto cities. Water supplies p mayhem...how Kim's hacke WILL attack Brit

FLAMING HELL: Air traffic systems could be wiped out

DOOMSDAY SCENARIO: Expect riots and meltdows if Kim attacks

OPTION: PM could call for a nuclear strike

IF you thought that North Korea's hacking into the computers of entertainment giant Sony was impressive, you ain't seen nothing yet.

Experts say cyber-terrorists from the secretive Stalinist state can infiltrate ANY system worldwide.

That means Britain could be reduced to Dark Age chaos, as the computers we rely on collapse under the weight of a North Korean web attack.

Boffins fear the National Air Traffic Services system could be one target for hackers employed by dictator Kim Jong Un.

Catastrophic

Last month 10,000 passengers at Heathrow alone were affected by an air traffic control computer failure, caused by a software glitch. But if North Korea managed to embed a piece self-replicating malware in the system, the results would be catastrophic.

With hundreds of planes in the skies above the UK at any one time, a failure of the air traffic control system would likely lead to mid-air collisions and huge loss of life in the air and on the ground.

Another system North Korean agents could well target is our water supply.

Some areas add fluoride to water. In small amounts, the chemical is harmless and may prevent dental decay, but in larger amounts, sodium fluoride is toxic. If North Korea managed to access and disrupt the fluoride systems, the water of tens of millions would be rendered undrinkable.

With planes falling from the sky and the water poisoned, Brits would be forgiven for heading to the pub to drown their sorrows.

But popping down to the cash point to get £20 would be tricky – as Kim's evil geniuses would have got to them, too.

In fact, a cyber-attack on Britain would most likely start as an assault on our financial system, which is almost entirely computer-based.

First the trading screens of the big City firms would go blank. If you think that would just affect coke-snorting, Porsche-driving, big-mouthed Yuppie wankers, think again, for the machinations of the money men in London grease the financial wheels of the entire UK economy.

If shares and government bonds can't be traded, confidence in sterling would collapse within minutes – severely undermining the UK economy.

With cash machines crippled, debit card payments not working and wages unpaid, queues would form at banks and panic would soon turn to rioting.

This – combined with water supplies failing and chaos in the air – would lead the Government to invoke the Civil Contingencies Act, which allows police and other authorities sweeping powers – in effect, Britain would be under emergency martial law.

Then would come Kim's coup de grâce – an attack on Britain's nuclear power stations.

Meltdown

If North Korean agents turned off the cooling systems of one of our nuclear reactors, the resulting meltdown would be like having a Chernobyl on our doorstep. A major leak at Heysham power station in Lancashire, for example, could contaminate vast swathes of north England with radioactivity.

It is unlikely that Britain's emergency planning committee, COBRA, would be able to keep up with the fast pace of Kim's cyber wrecking and near-panic would cripple Whitehall.

If Prime Minister David Cameron saw no other option than retaliation, he would call the Queen and then order a nuclear strike against North Korea.

Strategic affairs expert Gerald Walters of the University of West Lancashire said: "If Mr Cameron ordered a nuclear strike on North Korea, it's likely China would come to its ally's aid – with dire consequences. Make no mistake, we're a couple of keystrokes away from from World War III."

DANGER MAN: Dictator Kim Jong-un could cause WWIII

SEE RED

HERE are the topless scenes from The Interview – the film which may yet trigger the Apocalypse.

Viewers who've seen the controversial movie have been treated to star James Franco cavorting with topless dancers, and two girls kissing.

But the scenes are unlikely to impress North Korea's infamously uptight leader.

The country has made no secret of its fury over the movie, which also stars Seth Rogen and tells the story of two journalists tasked with 'taking out' the feared dictator.

Over the summer, North Korea warned that the film's release would be an 'act of war that we will never t lerate', adding the U.S. will face 'merciless' retaliation.

Then a hacking cell called Guardian of Peace launched a cyber-attack on Sony Pictures, leaking thousands of damaging documents.

Lacey wants a hot fella to warm her up

SAUCY glamour model Lacey Banghard has revealed her kinky New Year's resolution – having lots more SEX!

The Bedford babe recently admitted she's looking for a bloke to keep her busy over the winter months.

Lacey (above), 22, said: "When it's cold, I really want a boyfriend.

"I want someone who will jump under the duvet with me to keep me warm when I'm chilly!"

The sultry brunette, who boasts magnificent all-natural 30G boobs, started topless modelling in 2011 after winning a national competition.

She appeared on Celebrity Big Brother last year, and was the third contestant to be evicted.

She later said of the experience: "I had a great time. At first I was terrified about it but then I started to think, 'Why not? You only live once, right?'"

BLOG BROTHER

Desperate Scousewives star & celeb blogger Jaiden Micheal joins Sunday Sport

YOU seriously need to make sure you reserve your Sunday Sport over the next month or so because I'll be ripping the back out of two shows scheduled to start next week!

Celebrity Big Brother* is back and one housemate, Katie Hopkins, will be on the top of my hanging list IF she goes in!

She's been a rumoured signing for ages now, but apparently she has been paid over £400,000 to appear.

What an absolute waste of oxygen!

SPEAKING of a waste of air, The Real Housewives Of Cheshire starts soon.

Step forward a bunch of lazy, fake, money-grabbing wenches who dress like they're 22 when really they're all clearly over 65!

It's the first series of the big US franchise to be set in UK – so why the hell have they chosen these lot?

Mutton.

They claim to be the crème de la crème of Cheshire. No babes, you just shacked up with a rich fella and live off his money in your little deluded world.

Because REAL housewives of Cheshire stink of fags, get their televisions from BrightHouse on a weekly payment scheme and eat fish finger butties for breakfast, dinner and tea!

Or, as you'd say, breakfast, lunch and dinner – Kerry Katona.

That's a REAL housewives of Cheshire!

OLYMPIC Gold medalist/bellend Louis Smith has shacked up with Lucy Mecklenburgh.

The couple made it all official last week on Instagram of all places.

How common.

Ex-TOWIE star Lucy posted a pic of the pair all hungover and cuddled up and followed it by officially announcing the news. Thanks luv, I can finally sleep at night.

I couldn't think of a more perfect couple – both fame-hungry and obnoxious in person.

It won't last anyway. Her fellas always seem to get bored quickly.

OVERRATED singer Sam Smith has hit out at The X Factor by claiming he would have NEVER auditioned for the "talent" show.

Sam, who looks like the result of a drunken one night stand between Boy George and Ellen DeGeneres, slagged off Simon Cowell's singing show, saying it's "damaging".

Erm… didn't Sam appear on it last series to promote his album, song, tour, video, new hair do?

Get off your high horse, fella.

You ain't all that!

A nip down memory lane!

THIS WEEK LANA COX 1991

By JUSTIN DUNN
justin@sundaysport.co.uk

RUSSIA'S given the world many things – vodka, silly hats, killer spies, a pissed President, and the lovely Lana Cox.

In 1991, after completing a degree in English, Russian and German, she left her Moscow home and headed to Blighty work as an interpreter.

But instead of spending her days translating for wealthy Russian businessmen in the boardrooms of Britain, Lana surprised herself by doing something rather different.

Satisfy

The 32E stunna explained: "Life works in mysterious ways and instead of working as a translator here, I ended up being a successful Page 3 model and Playboy centrefold – even releasing a Playboy celebrity special video.

"Only problem is I've still got a very high sex drive and a taste for new sexual adventures, so I have to satisfy my appetite!"

As well as appearing in X-rated videos, Lana now runs a specialist tantric massage service in her adopted town of Chesterfield, Derbyshire.

She explained: "I will make every cell of your body tremble with pleasure as you reach pure erotic bliss."

NEXT WEEK: SHANINE LINTON

Sick shoplifter smears faeces in guards' faces

A FOUL crook was arrested for smearing POO in security guards' faces when they tried to stop her shoplifting.

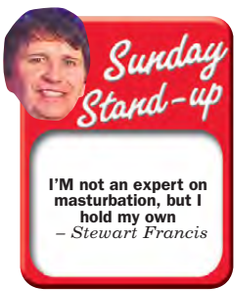
Marisol Toribio, 32, was nabbed by staff while trying to leave a department store after they suspected her of nicking stuff.

But rather than simply return the items, Marisol (above) reached into her jogging bottoms and wrangled a handful of warm TURD from her pants before carrying out the vile dirty protest.

Marisol then tried to run away from the shop before eventually being collared by police, who presumably had to suppress their gag reflex.

She is set to appear in court on Wednesday and faces charges of theft and tampering with physical evidence.

It is not yet known whether the poo smear was pre-meditated or if Marisol, from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, can produce brown weapons on demand.



ODDBALL'S BIZARRE SEX ADDICTION

My New Year resolution is to stop bonking POUFFES

OBSESSION: Brian is giving up his lust for pouffes and wants to find a woman to love

FOR kinky Brian Jessop, 2015 is going to be the year that he turns over a new leaf...and quits bonking POUFFES!

By BARNEY SAMUELS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Unwed Brian, 54, first felt attracted to the footrest-cum-stool soft furnishings while a teen and his developing obsession has led to all manner of scrapes.

The road surfacing engineer is BANNED from several leading furniture chains and was ejected from his local church for behaving inappropriately with a hassock during evensong.

But now Brian, from Biddulph, Staffs, hopes he can move forward to a life without carnal longing for pouffes.

His voice breaking with emotion, Brian said: "I know my attraction is wrong but it has been all-consuming since the age of 14 when I first rubbed myself against a pouffe at my maiden aunt's home.

"It was a tempting velveteen number and the moment I'd spent my seed, I knew this was the sexual partner for me.

Minx

"Unfortunately, imitation velvet is a very tricky fabric to clean, so my sin was discovered and my aunt delivered me a sound thrashing. That did nothing to rein in my lust. It made it worse, if I'm being perfectly honest."

As he grew up and got his own place, Brian established a harem of pouffes made from a variety of fabrics, including kinky leather and even a little "PVC minx".

He said: "I found it impossible to develop relationships with women. The moment I got a woman to come back to my place and she saw the huge collection of pouffes, she was off."

But after a series of aversion therapy sessions with a psychiatrist, Brian is now ready to discard his upholstered lovers.

He said: "Monday morning, I'm taking them down to the municipal tip. It will be hard, like throwing away a part of my life. But this is something I need to do."

CORRIE CATH IN DIRTY SEX TWITTER STORM

By JUSTIN DUNN
(who has watched Dirty Dancing 15 times)

CORRIE cutie Catherine Tyldesley has once more become the victim of a Twitter sex outrage.

Cath, 31, who plays knicker factory boss Carla Connor's busty PA Eva Price, took to the social network on December 22 to say how much she was loving watching the romantic flick Dirty Dancing.

She tweeted: "Love Dirty Dancing. Neil is such a weapon" – talking about the Patrick Swayze film's token love rival.

But just minutes later her follower "Man Bear Pig" tweeting as @chip-barm1988 replied: "I wish you were dancing dirty on my weapon."

It's not the first time the actress has been set upon by taunting keyboard warriors.

Last month, after she mentioned former cabinet minister Edwina Currie's remarks about sex while appearing on I'm A Celebrity ... Get Me Out Of Here!, a follower replied: "Imagine going down on her. It'd be like trying to prise open a cheese toastie."

And on another occasion she complained about a man tweeting her a picture of his COCK.

One production source said: "The theory that women use their brains while men think through their trousers appears to be correct.

"Catherine won't take too much notice of this remark. She's got far more important things to think about."

CLAUDIA: MY H
HANGOVER SE

LIKE the rest of us, gorgeous Claudia Dean is recovering from the boozy holidays – only she just doesn't look it.

The 22-year-old, from Twickenham, west London, admitted: "Yeah, of course I went out and got a bit wild, just like everyone else.

"I think I'm just blessed with the kind of face that can hide the pain!"

By JUSTIN DUNN
justin@sundaysport.co.uk

Claudia, a trained ballet dancer whose all-real 32DD boobs have been known to make grown make weep, added: "I find the best way to make myself feel better is to strip down.

"I hope everyone likes my new black underwear. It's as much fun to take off as it is to put on!"

NAKED CRET

MAGGIE PUSHED FOR DILDO BAN

MARGARET Thatcher considered banning sex toys using an anti-pornography law as part of a drive to clean up public decency in the 1980s.

Documents released by the National Archives reveal that the former Prime Minister was persuaded to consider a change in the law by anti-sex prodnose Mary Whitehouse, whom she met on two occasions.

Butt plugs

Leon Brittan, the Home Secretary at the time, wrote to Mrs Thatcher noting that there was a "strong case" to be made for banning vibrators, strap-ons and butt plugs under obscenity laws.

In September 1986 he wrote: "Some of the items in circulation are most objectionable, including some which can cause physical injury," according to a report in The Times.

He felt that sex toys could fall within the scope of the "deprave and corrupt" test of the 1959 Obscene Publications Act.

The act was used to prosecute the publisher of Lady Chatterley's Lover by DH Lawrence, in the famous trial that scandalised the public in 1960.

But Maggie wanted to tighten the law, after Mrs Whitehouse pressed for perceived public immorality to be challenged.

The Iron Lady asked her Home Secretary to prepare a new test, which could set a new bar for what could be considered to offend good taste or public decency.

TERRIER ALERT

TRENDY "Welsh hill terrier" dogs being sold around the West Midlands are actually FOXES dyed black, trading standards bosses have warned.

ROVER AND OUT

DOZY Jeremiah Patterson, 22, stripped naked and went to sleep on a dog bed in a department store in Lutz, Florida. He was arrested by cops.

Ash loves airing her pink bits

EXTRAS actress Ashley Jensen has let slip her KNICKERLESS secret.

The Scots thesp played Ricky Gervais' pal Maggie in the BBC One series, and also starred as Christina in Channel 4's Ugly Betty.

But what fans won't know is that Ashley, 45, likes going out without her pants on.

Speaking about her air-fresh undercarriage, she said: "It depends on what the weather's doing because if the wind is blowing then no underwear could be dangerous.

"But it's nice to go without pants because only you know, really."

While she's happy to risk a minge flash, Ashley has never bared her boobs on screen – even though she shares her name with a top PORN star!

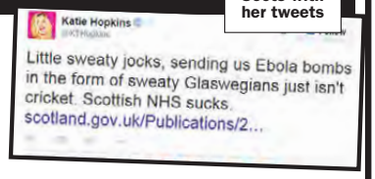
KATIE HOPKINS TABOO SEX PIC FURY

Anger as cyber-trolls target gobby Apprentice star

DIRTY FAKERS: Tech wizzes have cruelly put Katie's head on porn model getting bummed

OUTRAGE: Katie upset Scots with her tweets



Katie Hopkins
Little sweaty jocks, sending us Ebola bombs in the form of sweaty Glaswegians just isn't cricket. Scottish NHS sucks.
scotland.gov.uk/Publications/2...

MEGAMOUTH telly star Katie Hopkins has become a target of web trolls who've created a FAKE picture of her engaged in UNNATURAL sex antics.

Hopkins, 39, sparked fury in Scotland last week with a series of off-colour tweets about Scots Ebola victim Pauline Cafferkey.

Following news the nurse was being treated for the virus, Hopkins wrote: "Sending us Ebola bombs in the form of sweaty Glaswegians just isn't cricket."

Another tweet said: "Glaswegian ebola patient moved to London's Royal Free Hospital. Not so independent when it matters most are we jocksville?"

There is speculation offended Scots tech wizards may be behind the bogus pic of Hopkins, who became famous on BBC's The Apprentice.

The photo, which cannot be described in a family newspaper, shows a model splaying her pink labia while being anally penetrated by a well-hung hunk.

Katie Hopkins' face has been superimposed on the model's head – giving the erroneous impression she enjoys so-called "taboo sex".

Police confirmed they were looking into a number of complaints about Hopkins's tweets.

It is not yet known if any complaint has been made about the fake pic.

Midget scoffs bodyweight in sprouts at darts match

LET'S PLAY FARTS! Michael got wind after wolfing down the veg for money

A FLATULENT dwarf caused chaos at the World Darts Championship after eating his own bodyweight in BRUSSELS SPROUTS!

Michael Brudley – who's 4ft 2in – wowed fans and players alike when he chowed down on a gargantuan vat of green globes while watching the PDC event at London's Ally Pally.

During Phil "The Power" Taylor's last-16 match-up with Belgian Kim Huybrechts on Tuesday, Brudley was challenged by his drunken friends.

He said: "We were all pissed and wandered into the kitchen where we saw this huge pot of cooked sprouts.

"It must have weighed around 40 kilos. But when someone says, 'I bet you can't eat all them in one go', you've at least got to have a go."

Michael says that he felt less than brilliant afterwards, adding: "I was farting like a trooper. In the end the staff asked me to leave."

BRITAIN'S SWEARIEST COLUMNIST

HOLY SH*T!

IT'S Sunday, a day for quiet reflection and prayer. And who better to spend it with than Britain's first – and only – Tourette's vicar, the Reverend Edward Regis?

Despite being born with Tourette's – a condition that forces the cleric to swear – Rev Eddie fulfilled his dream of becoming a minister.

He's a man with a lot to say about what is happening in the world, despite his affliction. And Sunday Sport has made a vow to publish his Godly views – UNCENSORED and UNCUT!

Best of luck with your – jizz-sack! – resolutions, folks

WELL readers, a brand new year and a brand new start for us all.

Monkfart bitch-miff!

This time of year – zaggo! – is always a moment for reflection and resolutions.

*Fk! Sh*t! W*nkers!*

Ah yes, the dreaded New Year's resolutions!

Buggerhole!

What is it they say? – Flesh-lips! – The road to Hell is paved with good intentions?

Cting jizz-sack!

Radge!

The road to Hell is paved with SIN.

Arse! Nip! Prick!

I've thought long and hard – boner! – about my weaknesses and failings before – buttfk! – deciding on my own New Year resolution.

Turd-stick!

I am going to give up the fags – hobbitshite! – cut down the booze – smeg! – and really get my praying bang up to scratch.

Asscrack! Cheeky buttflaps!

All the best for 2015 and the best of luck – fkers! – with your resolutions!

Mincy boo-boy!

There's surely a better way – lovesock! – to beat Big C!

A NEW study has found that most types of cancer can be put down to – analbeads! – pure bad luck.

Goat-rapist! Pubes! Gangbang!

Scientists in the United States – scabies! – reckon it is all down to chance genetic mutations rather than lifestyle.

Frontbottom! Cloddy! Girlpanties!

But there's something all these scientists with their studies and the like forget to mention.

Splitter! Fkcheese! Balls!

The importance of faith in Our Lord and yes, prayer.

*Sh*tters!*

And actually just being nice.

Titties! Lovesock! Farter!

Surely you stand a better chance of avoiding the big C – cockpit! – if you are a good Christian.

Dirtflaps! Knackers! Whelk!

#justsayin!

Cumbutcher!

Well done to Gerro – baldvag! – a real icon

TRIBUTES to Steven Gerrard have been rolling in since – lickspittle! – he announced he was leaving Liverpool at the end of the season.

Granny-minge! Gash-hanger!

I must say, 17 seasons at one club is certainly a fantastic achievement.

Dick-poot! Shite!

Especially nowadays when a player's loyalty is so readily tested by – baldvag! – multimillion pound deals – pisshole! – and unscrupulous agents.

Fungal jack-shag!

But let's keep things in perspective.

Nazifinger! Scrotums! Cockhead!

There's another icon – spunker! – who's been leading MY team for thousands of years.

Biffclaw!

That's right – it's Jesus!

Puckered rectum!

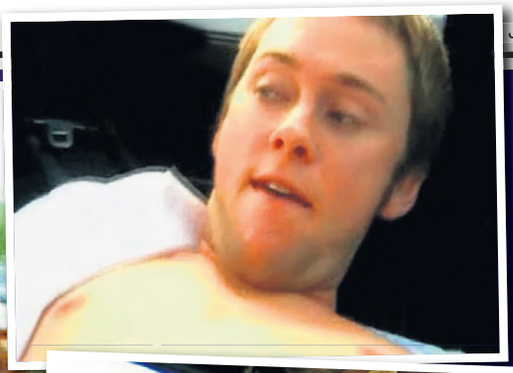
FANCY CHANGING GEAR, LUV? James drove Rita wild in this Mile High scene



ENDERS BABE'S SEX ROMP WITH CORRIE STUD IN A PEUGEOT 205

SOAP SIS: Rita with Samantha Womack in Enders

TOMORROW'S episode of Corrie is one where we can play that old telly favourite "What did he used to be in?"

James Redmond arrives in the Rovers as Hamish – a potential client and love interest for Michelle Connor (Kym Marsh).

To answer your question, James, 43, used to play Finn in Hollyoaks and, before that, nurse Abs in Casualty.

Before that, he played Jason Murdoch in the raunchy Sky One drama Mile High.

And here's another bit of soap trivia with which to impress easily-impressed people: in one episode of Mile High, James romped in a cramped Peugeot 205 with Rita Simons, who played Roxy Mitchell in Eastenders.

One soap fan said: "If Corrie and EastEnders introduced a bit of wild sex maybe they may put on a few viewers – by god, they need it!"

SUCKERS!

Punters pay £4,000-a-month for kinky 'adult baby' session

BITTY: Walliams in Little Britain

COPS have arrested 15 people involved in adult breastfeeding websites that hook up young mums with men who want to feed from their TEATS.

Officers broke up two prostitution rings offering to match men with their perfect "milk mamas".

According to one 23-year-old woman, members on one site pay £4,000 a month to access to a database of women offering a "pure" breastfeeding service, involving milk only.

However, for an extra £1,000 customers could access another list of "impure" feeders, who also offer sex.

The scandal has echoes of the adult character in hit BBC comedy Little Britain, played by David Walliams, who begs to suckle at his mother's tit with the word "bitty".

Crown jewels flasher is on cops' hitlist

POLICE are hunting a rhinestone flasher – who is waving his willy at women while wearing a jacket studded with fake diamonds.

The suspect approached a 49-year-old woman in Methil, Fife, exposed himself and then walked away.

He is described as being between 20 and 30, of chubby build and wearing black jeans and a distinctive black waist-length jacket with fake jewels sewn into it.

Officers believe the incident may be linked to a previous assault on a 58-year-old woman, which took place on December 23.

Detective Sergeant Jim McGuinness said: "Whilst there is the possibility that these crimes may be linked, I am keeping an open mind.

"Increased patrols are now being carried out in the area and members of the public should remain vigilant and report suspicious activity to police immediately."

OUR MAN GETS SNEAK PREVIEW OF THE BE

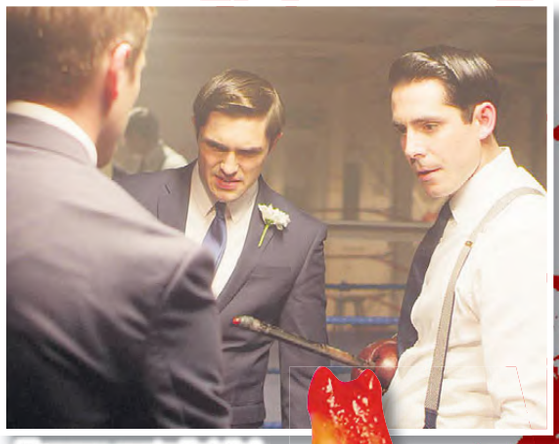
THE RISE OF

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

THE real-life story of Britain's most feared criminals hits cinemas this year – and it's already being hailed the GREATEST Brit gangster movie EVER!

The Rise of the Krays lifts the lid on Ronnie and Reggie Kray – identical twins who organised an underworld empire of violence, intimidation and murder in London's East End throughout the 1950s and 60s.

From armed robberies and grim torture methods to protection rackets and the infamous murders of rivals Jack 'The Hat' McVitie and George Cornell, the siblings brought a new brand of fear to the capital's mean streets.



They were eventually jailed for life in 1969 – but that did little to suppress the Krays' legend.

Of course, their infamous tale has told before – but never in such vivid, and gory, detail.

Now – with a little help from Sunday Sport stunnas Jeana Brock and Nicole McDee – director Zackary Adler is set to unleash hell onscreen.

Lead actors Simon Cotton, who stars as Ronnie, and Kevin Leslie, who plays Reggie, will shock with their electrifying performances.

Masterpiece

Here at Sunday Sport, we've seen a rough cut of the movie, and in our opinion Simon and Kevin make Gary and Martin Kemp – who played the Krays in an earlier film – look like WIMPS!

So it's no surprise that The Rise of the Krays is already being compared to that other great blood-drenched hoodlum masterpiece, Martin Scorsese's Goodfellas.

But there's far more to the

VINTAGE STUFF: Jeana in authentic undies as stripper in hot new movie

THE RISE OF THE KRAYS: IN CINEMAS NATIONWIDE THIS MAY

EST BRITISH GANGSTER FILM EVER MADE...

THE KRAYS

DOUBLE TROUBLE: Simon and Kevin shine as the twins movie than blood and gore. The story is gripping and the interplay between sane Reggie and insane Ronnie is cinema gold.

Executive producer David Sullivan said: "The Rise of the Krays leaves all other rivals in the dust. It's better than Get Carter, it's better than The Long Good Friday.

Justice

"Ronnie and Reggie Kray are East End legends, but we wanted to tell the real story, not just the myths.

"I've got my own experiences with their family as well – my dad, every lunchtime, used to drink with the Krays' mum!

"And unlike other Krays biopics The Rise of the Krays is a real historical document of the time.

"It's not just extreme violence, it carries a heavy message about justice.

"The complex relationship between the two brothers is fascinating – especially as the totally mad Ronnie Kray begins to go off the rails."

The film also brings into focus the Krays' obsession with celebrity, including their close friendships with then superstars Diana Dors, Frank Sinatra and Judy Garland.

It also delivers new detail on the sensational criminal trials and sentencings that made headlines across the world.

Glamour models Jeana, 26, and Nicole, 28, will also appear as strippers in a top London nightclub.

Busty 36E Jeana, from Dover, explained: "We appear in a naughty 60s sex party!

"You've got all these strippers there wearing vintage lingerie and getting their boobs out for the gangsters. It's quite a scene!

"The whole experience was actually a bit nerve-wracking, but it was great.

"I've seen bits of the finished film and it honestly looks incredible.

"When it comes out, I'm planning to get all the girls round, have a few drinks and watch it together."

● The Rise of the Krays hits UK cinemas in May – do NOT miss it!

THE LIFE & CRIMES OF THE KRAYS...

July 9, 1926: The eldest Kray brother, Charlie Jr, is born in London to parents Violet (née Lee) and scrap gold dealer Charles David Kray.

October 24, 1933: Ronald 'Ronnie' Kray and Reginald 'Reggie' Kray are born in Hoxton, East London. Reggie is born approximately 10 minutes before Ronnie.

1938: The family move from Stean Street, Hoxton, to Vallance Road in Bethnal Green, a rough neighbourhood in the East End.

1951: Ronnie and Reggie, aged 18, turn professional at boxing, having reportedly "never lost a match".

1952: After becoming notorious for their acts of violence, the twins are called up to National Service.

September 1952: While absent without leave, they assault a policeman who tried to arrest them. They are sent to prison in Kent and get dishonourable discharges.

1953: After their military shame ended the twin's boxing careers, they turned to crime full-time, starting several protection rackets. They also bought a snooker club in Bethnal Green.

1959: By the end of the decade the Krays were involved in hijacking, armed robbery and arson, and had built an empire of night clubs in East London.

1960: Ronnie is imprisoned for 18 months for running a protection racket and related violent threats. While inside, fellow inmate Peter Rachman hands over control of several businesses, establishing the Kray's influence in the West End.

1960-6: The Kray twins are local celebrities because of their club empire, becoming part of the Swinging London movement of the decade. Ronnie later says: "They were the best years of our lives."

1963: A newspaper alleges that Ronnie, who was openly bisexual, had an affair with Tory MP Robert Boothby. He threatens the journalists and the newspaper pays £40,000 damages to Boothby.

December 12, 1966: The Krays help Frank 'The Mad Axeman' Mitchell escape from Dartmoor Prison.

March 8, 1966: Kray associate Richard Hart is murdered at Mr Smith's Club in Catford.

March 9, 1966: Ronnie takes revenge by shooting George Cornell dead at the Blind Beggar pub in Whitechapel after Cornell allegedly called him a "fat poof".

June 1967: Reggie Kray's wife Frances commits suicide, aged 24.

October 29, 1967: Reggie stabs gang member Jack 'The Hat' McVitie in a basement flat in Stoke Newington. His body has never been recovered.

May 9, 1968: The twins and 15 others are arrested in a police operation led by Det Supt Leonard 'Nipper' Read, a former boxer.

March 8, 1969: Ronnie and Reggie are sentenced to life imprisonment, with a non-parole period of 30 years, for the murders of Cornell and McVitie. Their brother, Charlie Jr, is sentenced to 10 years for his part in the crimes.

1969: Ronnie is eventually certified insane and was sent to Broadmoor Hospital in Crowthorne, West Berkshire.

August 7, 1982: Violet Kray dies in Waltham Forest, London. The twins are allowed to attend the funeral under strict security.

March 8, 1983: Charles David Kray Sr. dies. Ronnie and Reggie did not attend in order to avoid a media frenzy.

1985: Guards at Broadmoor discover that Ronnie is running a protection business from behind bars called Krayleigh Enterprises, providing security for celebrities such as Frank Sinatra.

1990: Following the release of a movie about their lives, a campaign begins for the twin's early release from prison.

1992-3: Reggie Kray exchanges prison letters with championship boxer Mike Tyson, who had been convicted of rape in the States. Tyson later admitted: "Reggie knew what I was going through. Even though he was a killer, the people still loved him."

March 17, 1995: Ronnie dies of a heart attack at Broadmoor.

July 1997: Reggie Kray, still imprisoned, marries Roberta Jones at a hotel in Norwich.

August 26, 2000: Reggie is diagnosed with terminal bladder cancer and released from prison on compassionate grounds

April 4, 2000: Charlie Kray Jr dies in prison of natural causes, after being convicted of conspiracy to smuggle cocaine in 1997.

October 1, 2000: Reggie dies in his sleep, aged 66, at his wife's home in Norwich.

Man chased for pointing his lens at beach nudes

A POSSE of 10 nudists chased down a naked man on a busy beach after he was spotted with a camera hidden inside his cool box.

The man, thought to be in his 40s or 50s and wearing only a hat, was seen positioning his cool box to face other unclad people on the nudist section of South Australia's Maslin Beach.

A woman reportedly walked past and saw a wooden contraption inside his box with a video camera set up to film though holes.

He was confronted by nudists, only to walk further down the beach and position the box to face another naked couple.

A group of nudists then chased the man down the beach and made a citizen's arrest until police arrived.

Cops said there was insufficient evidence for a charge of indecent filming.

They examined the camera and found no footage had been recorded, but cautioned the man and asked him to leave the beach.

The southern section of Maslin Beach was declared Australia's first official nudist beach in 1975.

DAPPER'S BACK...AND HE'S STOPPED CRYING!

(That's 'cos he's now bosom pals with our babe Rae)

RETURN: Dapper and Rae in the YouTube clip

By JOHN FITZPATRICK
fitzy@sundaysport.co.uk

CONTROVERSIAL comic Dapper Laughs has stuck two fingers up to feminists by announcing plans to re-launch his laddish act.

And he's doing it with the help of stunning Sunday Sport model Rae!

Dapper – aka Croydon funnyman Daniel O'Reilly – was forced to "kill" his act in November last year after coming under fire for telling a female audience member she was "gagging for a rape".

Repentant Daniel, 29, even made a grovelling apology on BBC Two's Newsnight, announcing that "Dapper Laughs is gone".

Moist

But now, just two months later, his cheeky Lothario character – famed for his "proper moist" and "she knows" catchphrases – is coming back from the dead!

In a new teaser video posted online, Dapper is seen in heaven flirting with our 30E pin-up Rae as she pops grapes in his gob.

The voice of God is then seen commanding him back to Earth, where he meets his teary-eyed, turtleneck jumper wearing alter ego O'Reilly.

Dapper tells his creator: "What killed me off is you coming on Newsnight cock-blocking yourself wearing that turtleneck looking like a French poet. What's up with you soppy bollocks? Grow a pair.

"My work down here ain't finished, you fking twat. Don't worry, I'll keep it calm...."

Dapper's initial demise came following a petition, which garnered 200,000 signatures, to get his ITV1 show Dapper Laughs: On the Pull cancelled.

APOLOGY: Dapper on Newsnight (above) and with our girl Rae

CHURCH SCHOOL MISS IS PORN STAR

A PORN star SACKED from her job as a teacher in a religious school says she can STILL help to promote Christianity.

Gorgeous Julia Pink, 38, worked for 17 years with the Diakonia Germany Evangelical Federal Association in Munich.

But when not Bible-bashing, Julia moonlighted as a hardcore actress who starred in movies like Pink Gold and We Shoot a Porno Movie!

She was sacked without notice after church leaders became aware of her erotic film history.

But Julia is now appealing, saying: "I do porn films but that doesn't mean I cannot promote Christian values. I am a Catholic and a believer. I visit swingers clubs and do porn, but so what?"

DEANO ON SUNDAY

LAST Monday I was up a mountain in Snowdonia on a glorious winter's day, knee-deep in snow and wind whistling around my taters.

To the north was the Irish Sea and I had a grandstand view of hundreds of wind turbines stretching towards the horizon.

Now, in the sea, I don't have that much of a problem with wind turbines. Yes, they shred thousands of ospreys, but they are not as bad an eyesore as they are on dry land.

But wherever they are, these things are still pretty much useless.

During the recent cold snap, wind turbines actually drained electricity from the grid as heaters were needed to prevent them icing up.

The Department of Energy reckons there will need to be another 20,000 turbines built on land, and up to 40,000 at sea, to meet CO2 emissions targets.

How much will that cost?

Would it not be a better idea to pump the money into developing working nuclear fusion, which may eventually deliver all the energy we'll ever need – even when the wind isn't blowing?

Of course, that would involve politicians having common sense, courage and vision.

So let's not hold our breaths.

IT'S emerged that moves to slash the defence budget have actually cost taxpayers billions of pounds.

Early withdrawal from service of the Harrier aircraft fleet was meant to save £2.8billion. According to the MoD's annual report and accounts for 2013-14, the move is expected to lead to a LOSS of £1.3bn.

The withdrawal of four Type 22 frigates was expected to save about £240million, but the report says it will lose the MoD £416m.

Losses arising from other cost-saving measures, such as the early cancellation of defence contracts, mean taxpayers will be out of pocket by around £2.7bn.

These figures are massive. And it should make you angry.

Every one of those pounds wasted has been earned by you or by someone like you. It was taken from our pockets under threat of imprisonment.

Scum

In fact, every hour you worked from January 1 to May 30 last year was to pay the taxman. The money from five fking months' toil went straight to little Georgie Osborne.

And countless BILLIONS was flushed straight down the toilet by incompetent fking CTS who are welded to the idea that "Who cares? It's only taxpayers' money".

Remember this when hairy-faced arseholes whine that we should be paying MORE tax. The tax we already pay is squandered and our hard work is treated with contempt by public sector fatcats who get paid no matter how badly they cock up.

These wasteful vermin are parasitical scum. Worse than any banker with a fat bonus.

Their names, home addresses and mobile phone numbers should be printed in the papers.

This class of spendthrift filth must be brought to account.

Is it REALLY a crime to be an arsehole?

I'VE never watched BBC show The Apprentice.

The cult of go-getting, money-obsessed, take-no-prisoners, masters of the Universe entrepreneurialism leaves me cold.

So I had no idea what a Katie Hopkins was until she appeared in the papers, half-naked with somebody else's husband.

We know a word for ladies like that, don't we children?

Since then, Miss Hopkins has become a "TV personality" by voicing whatever impolite opinion comes into her little head.

I heard her described quite wonderfully the other day as "like a drunk middle-aged woman who can only get people's attention by squawking from the corner".

To be honest, I have a fair suspicion that Katie Hopkins may not be entirely well in the head.

Yes, she's made a decent living by being rude to people – in print, on TV and online. But she appears to revel in making people hate her.

OK, some of the opinions voiced in Deano's World may be on the ripe side, but I'd be overwhelmed by the waves of vitriol that daily wash over the Hopkins women.

So, in short, Hopkins is a prematurely-menopausal madwoman who comes out with stuff that is sometimes spot-on but usually delivered with more venom than is strictly polite.

So why, in the name of all that's holy, is she being investigated by the Scottish Police force?

After news that a Scots nurse was being treated for the virus, Hopkins wrote on Twitter: "Sending us Ebola bombs in the form of sweaty Glaswegians just isn't cricket."

Unhinged

Another tweet said: "Glaswegian ebola patient moved to London's Royal Free Hospital. Not so independent when it matters most are we jocksville?"

OK, not very funny and not very kind – especially as the nurse, Pauline Cafferkey, had been in Africa treating poor sods who had Ebola.

But according to some people, Hopkins' words were "racist" and so criminal.

Fk. Right. Off.

The people who went running to the Dibble are surely as unhinged as she is.

And what are the police playing at? Why are they wasting time "investigating" harmless nonsense uttered by a deranged C-lister?

Is real crime conquered in lovely, new, devolved Scotland?

This seems to be the pattern across the UK.

Someone breaks your door down and nicks your telly, all you'll get is a crime number.

Throw in the word "racism" and the whole might of the Plod is thrown at the job.

The cops almost seem to revel in statistics showing more "hate crime" – to use the creepily Orwellian phrase.

Have we really become a nation where it's a crime to be a loudmouth arsehole?

If it is, then most people who've appeared on The Apprentice could well end up behind bars.

FOYLE'S PHWOAR!

Stars of cop series are TOPLESS

HONEYSUCKLE WEEKS

WHEN Foyle's War was about a decent, down-to-earth police inspector upholding the law in wartime, it was a rather agreeable series.

But the arrival of peace and Foyle's move to MI5 has added a couple of ladles of silliness to the mixture. Now, Foyle – played by the excellent Michael Kitchen – is up to his eyes in Cold War skulduggery and fleeing Nazis.

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Thankfully, we still have the agreeable form of Honeysuckle Weeks, who plays Foyle's trusty sidekick Samantha Stewart. A trawl of our archives turns up her splendid breasts, as revealed in 2011's The Wicker Tree.

Foyle's boss Hilda Pearce – played by Ellie Haddington – has also revealed her chestulars, in the 1990 TV series Ball on the Slates.

And tonight's episode guest stars the rather lovely Jaime Winstone – daughter of the fearsome Ray – as Vera Stephens, alongside William Postlethwaite.

She doffed her top in the 2009 movie Boogie Woogie.

An onlooker said: "Can I touch?"

WORLD NEWS

CHINA

A BUSINESSMAN who bought and ate three tigers has been jailed for 13 years.

The property developer of Leizhou in the province of Guangdong, named Xu, has "a hobby of grilling tiger bones, boning tiger paws, storing tiger genitals, eating tiger meat and drinking tiger blood with alcohol", the court heard.

KUWAIT

A STUDENT who was cheating in an exam ended up in hospital after a Bluetooth device got stuck deep into his ear.

The student was unable to remove the device after he pushed it too far in, in order to avoid detection by exam supervisors.

SOUTH KOREA

HEALTH authorities are investigating a plastic surgery clinic in Seoul after photos emerged online showing medical staff partying in an operating theatre.

In one selfie, posted on photo-sharing app Instagram, staff in scrubs stand around a candlelit birthday cake – with what appears to be an unconscious patient lying on a bed behind them.

SOUTH AFRICA

WHEELCHAIR-bound farmer old Johan Lange was assaulted, tied up and forced to repeat "I love black people" during a raid on his property in Kiepersol.

The attackers stole rifles and ammo,a laptop, mobile phones and money in the raid on the 70-year-old.

SPAIN

MORE THAN 135,000 people have signed a change.org petition calling for bestiality to be banned in Spain, amid concerns the country could become "a paradise for animal abusers".

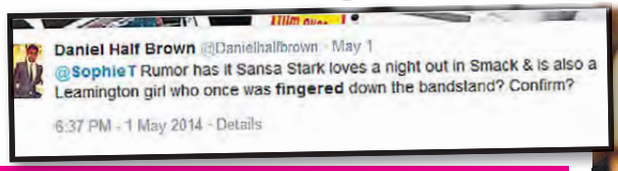
The petition will be presented to the justice minister when parliament discusses changes to a new law.

AUSTRALIA

RESIDENTS of £500-a-week flats in Brisbane have been warned not to BONK too loudly.

Householders were told in an email: "Noisy sex complaints are a current noise problem. Escalated sounds of passion qualify for an infringement notice."

GAME OF THRONES BABE FINGERING HELL



Daniel Half Brown @Danielhalfbrown · May 1
@SophieT Rumor has it Sansa Stark loves a night out in Smack & is also a Leamington girl who once was fingered down the bandstand? Confirm?
6:37 PM - 1 May 2014 - Details

TROLL TARGET: Stunning actress Sophie

GAME of Thrones* star Sophie Turner is knuckle-deep in a FINGERING scandal, we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal!

The beauty plays Sansa Stark in the popular Sky Atlantic series.

But Sophie faced cruel abuse after web trolls accused the pretty actress of performing a cheap sex act in a public park!

Twitter user @Danielhalfbrown said: "Rumour has it Sansa Stark loves a night out in Smack and is also a Leamington girl who once was fingered down the bandstand? Confirm?"

'Smack' is a local nightclub in Sophie's hometown of Leamington Spa, Warks, and the "bandstand" refers to the Pump Room Gardens park nearby.

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

Partying

The 18-year-old has been spotted at the club several times in the past few months, and fans regularly upload photos of her partying on social media.

There is no suggestion whatsoever that Sophie was "fingered down the bandstand" – but that hasn't stopped sick bullies from spreading rumours online.

The flame-haired babe attacked the rumours last week – telling Twitter trolls to watch their spelling!

She joked: "Insults are more effective if the proper grammar is used. Spelling also helps."

BRITAIN'S GRUMPIEST COLUMNIST

Les Miserable

HAPPY New Year to loyal readers of this column! I hope that you all have an incredible 2015, filled with love and laughter.

Here's hoping that you don't fall prey to gangrene, syphilis, some kind of extreme allergic reaction, piles, night terrors, warts, penile shrinkage, whooping cough, scrotal spots, a milky eye and/or the shivering shits.

I also hope that none of you get your benefits stopped for 13 weeks for doing a £20 cash job helping Thin Mick from the estate shift a few pallets across town, end up being referred to the local food bank because you can't afford to eat but then getting barred for turning up high on fence protector five minutes before they shut and end up nicking from the bins behind Aldi.

In short, I hope you don't have the 2014 that I had.

ED Miliband was spotted in one of Nigel Farage's favourite pubs this week, enjoying a Christmas pint.

Imagine being the landlord of that place. You'd want to fing gas yourself.

AS it's the first weekend of the new year, we've got the third round of the FA Cup to enjoy, with the traditional slaying of a few big clubs by their lower-league counterparts.

If you ask me, the lower league clubs shouldn't be allowed anywhere near the FA Cup – it's far too f*ing good for them.

Who the f* wants to see the likes of Chelsea or Arsenal outplayed and beaten by some scabby team from League Two, with their lumbering, clod-hopping centre forwards and their knuckle-dragging fans?

And if you're a fan of one of the big guns, do you really fancy a trip to some 8,000 capacity shithole that's probably being held together by parcel tape and hope?

Do you f*. Let's keep the FA Cup just for the Premier League teams… and maybe include that charity side that Robbie Williams puts together.

THE most popular porn searches over the festive season have been revealed, with the biggest risers being 'naughty Santa's helper' and 'fing dad's girlfriend'.

Can't believe there was no mention of my own personal favourite – 'Snow White Dwarf Bukakke On A Speedboat'.

Maybe my tastes are a bit obscure…

NEW YEAR HONOURS SPECIAL

DAME JOAN COLLINS – FOR SERVICES TO KLEENEX!

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

But anyone who has seen her raunchy skin flicks The Stud and The Bitch will know Dame Joan is the toast of the TISSUE industry.

The Stud, released in 1978 and The Bitch, released a year later, were based on raunchy novels penned by her sister Jackie.

The films were extremely successful financially. The Stud, made for $600,000 went on to gross over $20,000,000 internationally.

This was good news for Joan, who was at a career low at the time.

These days Joan, now 81, is coy about the roles that launched a million teenage tosses.

She said: "Looking back in embarrassment I cringe and say: 'Oh my God, did I do that?'

"But you see, I was hungry then, and when you're hungry you often do things that go against the grain.

Conned

"The nudity went against my grain quite a bit, but I was talked and conned into it. There's no way I would do a film like that today."

Dame Joan, who was made an OBE for her contribution to the arts in 1997, said she was "thrilled and truly grateful" for being made a Dame.

SAUCY SOPHIE'S A HIT WITH THE GIRLS

By JOHN FITZPATRICK
fitzy@sundaysport.co.uk

SIZZLING Sophie Reade today lets slip her kinky GIRL-ON-GIRL secret.

The busty blonde 30H pin-up shot to fame on 2009's Big Brother, winning admirers thanks to her pert puppies.

And Sophie, from Nantwich, Cheshire, says it's not just fellas who chat her up, admitting she gets more WOMEN trying to pull her than men these days.

Gorgeous Sophie, former girlfriend of Liverpool footballer Mario Balotelli, confessed: "Girls come up to me and speak to me.

"Before I went on Big Brother it was all guys, but now it's mainly girls – it's brilliant!"

The telly hottie is partial to slap and tickle in the bedroom.

She added: "I like my S&M stuff, but favourite thing to wear for sex is my naughty maid outfit.

"That's always guaranteed to get a good reaction!"

CAPTION CONTEST

WIN £50

YOU guys were all GEARING up for a fight this week, all of your entries were MECH-tacular.

Plenty of you threw SPANNERS in the works, but one person really WRENCHED the title away.

This weeks winner is Stephen Benton from York with: "When you said you would quite happily go down and get your hands on something long, hard and greasy, that's not what I thought you meant."

Well done Stephen, a crisp £50 cheque will be on its way to you.

And while not everyone can scoop the cash, there were plenty of other great entries;

Phil Chater, Stourbridge: "Right, that's fixed." "Can I jack off now? . . ., sorry I mean can I take the jack off now."

Alex Dutton, Rhyl: "Why would anyone put super glue under here eh lads?' Lads?"

Mr R P Chater, Stourbridge: "In a turn of events, ISIS have started hiring their newest bombers from a modelling agency."

Now it's YOUR turn.

Just come up with a caption for this pic, fill in the coupon and send it to our swanky HQ: Caption Contest, C/O Sunday Sport, Floor 3, Maclaren House, Lancastrian Office Centre, Talbot Road, Old Trafford, Manchester, M32 0FP.

Numbers within the 070 range have been designated as Personal Numbers by OFCOM and are available for the use of Personal Numbering Services (PNS). The formal definition of such services, as set out in the National Telephone Numbering Plan is: "a service based on number translation that enables End-Users to be called or otherwise contacted, using a single personal telephone number, and to receive those calls or other communications at almost any telephone number, including Mobile Numbers." 070 numbers are not premium rate however the cost of calls to 070 number may vary between service providers.

STUDENTS TALK SEX!

SHAGGING at 30,000 feet, fancying lecturers and favouring the larger penis...

Their parents' hair would stand on end if they knew what their daughters got up to at uni.

And when we chatted to these two in a pub near Manchester University they couldn't wait to reveal all their naughtiest saucy secrets. Yes, it's time once again to listen in as Students Talk Sex...

NATALIE LAMB

AGE: 21
FROM: Sunderland
STUDYING: Media Studies
UNIVERSITY:Manchester Universist
FAVE FOOD: Chicken tikka masala
FAVE DRINK: Rosé wine
FAVE FILM: Inception
FAVE ACTOR: Ryan Reynolds

LUCY BAKER

AGE: 20
FROM: Cardiff
STUDYING: English Literature
UNIVERSITY: Manchester University
FAVE FOOD: Chicken Sunday roast
FAVE DRINK: Rosé wine
FAVE FILM: Moulin Rouge!
FAVE ACTOR: Johnny Depp

FANCYING TEACHERS

NATALIE: I loved one of my lecturers last year. He was so good-looking with an amazingly good bum, despite him being about 40.
LUCY: Did you pull him?
NATALIE: Noooo! I was far too nervous. I was at salsa dancing night one night and he turned up. I made sure he danced with me so I could cop a feel of his arse. I love older men, they're sexy and you know they'll be good in bed because of their experience.
LUCY: I used to fancy one of my teachers when I was in sixth form. He was the PE teacher and about 50 but he had a great tan and looked like I imagine Brad Pitt will in 20 years.
NATALIE: Did he know you fancied him?
LUCY: No, he had no idea but I used to wink at him whenever I saw him.

OH-NO MOMENTS

NATALIE: Did I tell you my mum once walked in on me when I was having sex with my boyfriend?
LUCY: No, what did she do?
NATALIE: Nothing, she ignored the fact I was on top of him and asked me what I wanted for my tea. It was awful eating dinner with my parents after.
LUCY: My worst moment was when I got caught shagging my fella by the police in Spain.
NATALIE: What happened?
LUCY: They were peering through the window while we were shagging on the back seat. Luckily they just laughed and walked away. I've never been so embarrassed.

BUM FUN

NATALIE: Have you tried anal?
LUCY: No, and there's no chance I ever will. It's just wrong, wrong wrong!

LUCY: Was he good in bed?
NATALIE: Yes, the size made all the difference. I've never come so much in my life and it was only because he hit all the right spots because it was so big.
LUCY: I fully agree. My ex had a nine-incher and I was terrified when I first saw it. It looked like a genetically modified cucumber it was so big and fat.

STUDENT SEX LIFE

NATALIE: Do you think students have better sex lives than other people?
LUCY: No, because with students you're just in then out and most of the time you don't even know each other. At least in a relationship you know what each other likes.
NATALIE: I think our sex lives are better now. Most students are single so you can get a shag whenever you want.
LUCY: But it's normally crap sex.
NATALIE: Not always. If you're good in bed then you can make sex good.

SEX TOYS

LUCY: Have you a favourite sex toy?
NATALIE: Yes, have you got a Rabbit?
LUCY: I've got the platinum one and it's brilliant. It guarantees an orgasm every time.
NATALIE: I've got the classic original Rampant Rabbit and I still think it's the best. I use it at least twice a week, it's almost as good as the real thing.

DRESSING UP

LUCY: There's nothing I like more than putting on saucy underwear for a bloke. It makes you feel sexy and blokes love it. Have you tried it?
NATALIE: No, but I once dressed as a common wench for my fella.
LUCY: What effect did it have?
NATALIE: It made me feel excited and my fella loved it, he couldn't keep his paws off me.
LUCY: I fancy dressing as a naughty nurse but haven't tried it yet.

FAVOURITE POSITION

NATALIE: What's your fave position?
LUCY: Being on top is fantastic. There's nothing better than being in control because you can make sure you get what you want.
NATALIE: I prefer getting done doggy-style. It's much better because it hides your tummy.

FIRST-TIME SEX

LUCY: I was 16 and had been going out with my boyfriend for over a year so I thought it was the right time.
NATALIE: How was it?
LUCY: It was the first time I'd seen my bloke's willy and it was tiny. I'm talking three inches maximum. I could hardly feel it, the sex was crap.
NATALIE: My first time was when I was 16. I did it with my boyfriend in his bedroom one day when we were bored.
LUCY: Did you plan it beforehand?
NATALIE: No, it just happened. He was experienced so I let him take the lead and it was good even though it only lasted a few minutes.

LESBO LOVING

LUCY: Do you find girls attractive?
NATALIE: Yes, but they don't really float my boat. I'm only into blokes.
LUCY: How far have you been with a girl?
NATALIE: Only snogging my mates when drunk. It's a change to snogging blokes because girls don't have stubble.
LUCY: I find it funny snogging my friends when I'm drunk too.

My ex had eight inches ... the biggest I've had!

NATALIE: I always avoid it like the plague. One of my mates said it hurt and that's put me off it completely.

WILLY SIZE

LUCY: Do you think willy size plays a big part in good sex?
NATALIE: Yes, it matters a lot. My ex had an eight inch cock and it was the biggest one I've ever had.

FIRST TIME TOPLESS..

MIA MALKOVA

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

WHEN it comes to these amazing pics of new model Mia Malkova, we're lovin' it.

The blonde swapped a job flipping burgers in McDonald's to become an international pin-up, and today makes her topless debut in Sunday Sport.

The sexy 22-year-old boasts a mouth-watering set of all-natural 34C baps and tasty legs and bum.

The California-born beauty, now living in Chelsea, west London, told us: "Up until I was 19 I worked at McDonald's, but then a friend helped me to get into modelling. The burger broiler's loss is your gain!"

Gorgeous Mia might look like your average girl next door, but she's secretly a rampant nympho, saying: "My perfect day would be to wake up, have sex, and then maybe masturbate 15 times more!"

HANNAH'S READY TO RIDE!

Hannah Elizabeth
Age 24, 32G-24-35, from Liverpool

By JOHN FITZPATRICK
fitzy@sundaysport.co.uk

GALLOPING glamour babe Hannah Elizabeth knows how to keep her cracking curves up to scratch – she rides bareback!

Scouse stunna Hannah, 24, has opened up about her rigorous training regime, admitting that she keeps her bum pert by straddling a muscly beast – her favourite horse.

Hannah – a bra-busting 32G – said: "I work hard to stay in shape so I'm at ease with taking my clothes off.

"If I'm not pole-dancing or boogying in nightclubs, I'm horseriding, which keeps my bum and legs in top shape.

"A quick trip out riding is better than hours in the gym."

And Hannah reckons her heaving top rack is still GROWING. The blonde, who had a boob job back in January 2013, said: "Since I've had them done they keep growing. At this rate I'll be a H cup. The bigger the better in my book!"

Welcome to the world famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice or experience than our own Agony Angels! This week Morgan Lees has been reading your letters. Here's her advice...

Dear Morgan...

MY missus walked out on me a couple of weeks before Christmas and at the time I was suicidal.

I thought I was going to have the most miserable Christmas ever — but thanks to the busty landlady at my local, it's turned out to be one of the best ever.

I was drowning my sorrows one night last week when she was collecting the glasses at closing time.

We started chatting and she told me that her husband had gone down south to visit his kids from his first marriage. She then asked me if I fancied a go on the pool table.

I thought she meant a game as she told me to wait while she cleared up. But she hitched up her skirt, dropped her knickers and told me to get stuck in.

She's no spring chicken, but she's got a decent body and a pretty face, and is far and away the best shag I've ever had.

Her hubby is back next week, but I would like to see her again, do you think I have a chance?

PD, via e-mail

Morgan says...

ASK her if she's up for some more fun. After all, you have got nothing to lose and some serious fun to gain!

Dear Morgan...

I HAD my first threesome on Christmas Eve. It was with my husband and his best mate.

His mate has just split with his girlfriend and hadn't any for a while. My husband said he'd always wanted to share me with another man, and I was up for it.

They both wore Santa suits as they spitroasted me.

The problem is that my hubby's mate has got a massive cock and I want more of it.

What should I do?

KJ, via e-mail

Morgan says...

JUST ask for regular threesomes with this fella.

Randy lesbos gave me BJ Xmas bonus

Dear Morgan...

I'VE been a window cleaner for nearly three years and until recently I thought all the stories I'd heard about randy housewives were a myth.

And then two weeks ago I was out on my rounds when a woman of about 50, I'm 28, came to the door and invited me in for a coffee.

She was wearing a tight blouse without a bra and only one button done up. As I'm sure you can imagine, her plump breasts were practically tumbling out into my face.

She told me to go into the lounge as she headed off towards the kitchen.

As I walked into the room I was amazed to see a blue video playing on the TV. But my amazement turned to shock when I realised that the sexy scenes unfolding in front of me starred the woman of the house.

She was wearing only stockings and suspenders as she was being shafted from behind by a bloke as she lapped eagerly at the shaved pussy of another younger woman.

By the time she walked in with the cups, my dick, not surprisingly, was rock-hard.

The coffee was quickly forgotten as she began to massage my bulge. She unleashed my nine-incher and said she was going to give me my Christmas bonus and then sucked me off.

Letter of the day

I soon had her blouse off and cupped her breasts in my hands.

By then I was desperate to shag her but she surprised me by letting out a whistle.

Seconds later I heard footsteps on the stairs and then the other woman from the video walked in. She was wearing a bathrobe which she quickly disposed of to reveal a saucy white basque and stockings.

I then spent the happiest hour or so of my life fing them one after the other in between watching them indulging in some lesbo fun.

Now they've invited me back for another session but they want their friend with the video camera to be there as well. Do you think it would be a good idea?

GD, Cambs

Morgan says...

THAT rather depends on how photogenic you are.

Dear Morgan...

I GOT pissed on Christmas Day and ended up shagging my mother in law.

She's a blonde in her late 40s, I'm 29.

She's worth a f but I've managed to control myself until now. Everyone had gone to bed when she started coming on to me.

I couldn't believe it when she took her top off to reveal her massive tits.

I was soon rock-hard and took her from behind on the couch.

The next day I saw her and said we should try to forget about it, but she said she's up for more.

I'm tempted, what should I do?

DF, via e-mail

Morgan says...

BE very careful. If your wife finds out it will be a nightmare for you.

I WAS at a New Year's Eve party last week and shagged my bird's sister.

The do was hosted by a mutual friend and when I saw her sis wearing a tiny dress I wanted her.

We had a few drinks and I told her that I wanted to give her one. She was a bit shocked, but said she was up for it if we kept it to ourselves.

We found a spare bedroom and she soon had my todger in her mouth.

I then licked her out and had her from behind.

She was a great a shag and so is my bird. I'd love to have them both.

Do you think they'll agree?

BF, Manchester

Morgan says...

I DOUBT it, but ask them, all they can do is say no!

Morgan says...

NOT all retirement homes lay on pints of beer and cigars for their residents.

At most you are lucky to get a bowl of gruel and a mint humbug to suck on.

But codger Wilf here has landed on his feet with a home that lays on all the creature comforts – including nookie with a half-decent young nurse.

If things look too good to be true, they normally are. Wilf's probably being fleeced by the home's management, who will have tricked him into signing over his worldly goods to some shady offshore investment syndicate.

W*NKING JOCKEY SHOT DURING DOG-THEFT RAMPAGE

GUNNED DOWN: Suarez tugged himself off on balcony before shooting

A PROMISING jockey caught masturbating on a woman's balcony is in critical condition after being shot twice by a resident when he assaulted neighbours.

Angel Suarez Medero, 21, is a rising horseracing star in Philadelphia, having made millions of dollars from his races.

Medero is being treated for gunshot wounds to the chest and abdomen after the bizarre incident.

Police were alerted around 8.30pm to a male suspect who was naked from the waist down and masturbating on the deck of a second floor apartment.

A female resident, who called cops and fled to a neighboring apartment, said: "I could see from my living room that there was a man on my deck.

'He lay on the floor, stood back up and then started masturbating."

He then jumped down and broke into another apartment that was occupied at the time.

By JOHN FITZPATRICK
fitzy@sundaysport.co.uk

Medero was then believed to have assaulted two occupants before being shot twice by one resident during the struggle.

He will be charged with burglary and assault once his condition improves.

Suarez could have been on a substance such as bath salts or PCP at the time of the incident, police believe.

LILLO'S RINGPIECE

STEVE LILLIS' KNOCKOUT BOXING COLUMN

FROCH: I MAY BE FINISHED

Cobra set to call it a day if fight with Chavez collapses

CARL FROCH could be forced to retire after American promoter Bob Arum threatened to KO his fight against Julio Cesar Chavez Jr.

The IBF and WBA super-middleweight champion wants to face the Mexican in Las Vegas on March 28, but Arum is threatening legal action.

Chavez Jr claims his contract with Arum's company has ended, but the veteran promoter insists the boxer is still locked in.

He is ready to take legal action against Froch and his promoter Eddie Hearn if they push ahead with plans to stage the fight.

Arum raged: "It's not going to happen because Chavez is under contract with us, period.

"Until he honours that contract, no fight is going to happen without everybody being subject to litigation."

Stripped

It means Froch is facing a tricky start to what will almost certainly be his final year as a professional boxer.

I understand the Nottingham star could be stripped of his IBF belt unless he faces mandatory challenger James DeGale.

Froch, 37, has said he has little interest in facing another British rival and claims he may well retire.

He hasn't boxed since his second win over George Groves last May when 80,000 fans packed into Wembley Stadium.

Froch said: "Financially I'm secure. By May I'll have been out a year – and the longer it goes, the less likely I'll ever fight again.

"If I do decide to stop, I'll be so happy I finished in that manner at Wembley. I can smile for the rest of my days."

WORLD TITLE TILT: Scouser Tony Bellew

'Marmite man' Bellew gets back in the ring

TONY BELLEW will be back in action on April 18, in a world title tune-up.

The Scouser has become one of boxing's "marmite" characters with as many enemies as fans, but it keeps him firmly in the spotlight.

The cruiserweight gained revenge over Nathan Cleverly in November and set his sights on IBF champion Yoan Pablo Hernandez or Marco Huck, the WBO title holder.

His trainer Dave Coldwell said: "There are bigger nights ahead for Tony. I think there'll be a couple of big fights over the next 12 months.

"He has got all the ingredients to become a world champion and I'll be doing my best to make sure he reaches that goal."

WIND OF CHANGE: Andrew Gale

Gale wants to force big T20 change

CRICKET

YORKSHIRE captain Andrew Gale has called for big changes to the domestic Twenty20 competition to prevent English cricket being "left behind".

The 18 first-class counties contest the NatWest T20 Blast – with 2014 champions Warwickshire rebranded as Birmingham Bears – with group games played mostly on Friday evenings from mid-May to late July, and this year's finals day taking place on August 29.

But Gale favours a smaller, shorter competition between city-based franchises, along the lines of the Indian Premier League or Australia's Big Bash League.

He wrote on Twitter: "How good is the Big Bash? We have to do something with our competition, otherwise we'll get left behind. Gotta inspire the kids.

"Franchise system would work in England. 10 cities, over a 3-week period, straight after the IPL. World's best players, bigger crowds."

That would effectively mean his Yorkshire team in their current form ceasing to compete in Twenty20 cricket.

It's an idea that would stick in the throat for many – but Gale still had one more left-field suggestion up his sleeve.

"Be good if two Big Bash teams played in our comp, and 2 English teams played in their comp," he added.

DARTS

WOLFIE BACK IN THE HUNT

MARTIN ADAMS got back to his best form to dispatch Jan Dekker 3-1 as the BDO World Championship got underway at the Lakeside.

Three-time champion "Wolfie" took the first set before being pegged back immediately by Dekker.

The Dutchman then took control, but missed six darts to seal the third set, allowing Adams to pinch it with a double top checkout.

And the Englishman then kept his composure to wrap up a second-round place.

TENNIS

DJOK HANDS IT TO ANDY

ANDY MURRAY got his first trophy of the season without having to play a match after Novak Djokovic pulled out of their Abu Dhabi final with illness.

The world No.1 had looked in fine nick beating Stan Wawrinka in the semi-finals of the exhibition Mubadala World Tennis Championship on Friday.

But the defending champion handed the title to Murray yesterday after suffering from a fever.

Djokovic's withdrawal may prove to be a blessing for Murray (above), who felt pain in his left shoulder during his 6-2 6-0 semi-final win over Rafael Nadal.

The Scot said: "I don't know what happened. I've never had anything happen to that shoulder before.

"I'llhave an ultrasound scan to see if there's anything there, then we'll see what happens."

DOG LEADS BY MICK LIVESEY

It's never too late to cash in

SITTINGBOURNE serve up a cracking meeting tonight featuring some really good open races and it's live and free in bookmakers nationwide courtesy of BAGS and SIS.

Toolatetosell gets a confident vote for the NAP selection.

I'm a big fan of this greyhound and feel he is vastly underrated.

He's mixed it with some of the best greyhounds in the country and can perhaps count himself a little unlucky not to have won more.

He should win tonight, he's got a great draw and if he turns in a pitch it should all be over.

Goes Hot is a useful sprinter who was beaten last time by the highly regarded Express Max there's no shame in that and it is quality form.

Solid

He's got the ideal platform tonight to make a name for himself and show this can be a good year for him.

In the staying event Fionntra Molly is a solid benchmark.

It should prove wise to stick with her here against a few unknowns.

She possesses good early-pace for a stayer and that weapon often proves effective even over the longer trips, the best place to be is out in front.

Mamba looks to be an improver for John Millard and he can take the Maiden event.

It was a very good trial and he looks the sort to have potential to go on to maybe bigger and better things.

SITTINGBOURNE TIPS

IT'S MERV PAYNE WITH A FAN'S VIEW OF THE FOOTIE WEEK

Bringing in new laws? Maybe consider these...

THE strange situation of not having a full fixture list to enjoy on the first day of the year meant all the attention was on the Premier League (just for a change).

Luckily for us, there were plenty of talking points as appalling refereeing hogged the Hogmanay hangover.

It has been announced that new measures are going to be brought in regarding the ridiculous amount of grappling that goes on between attackers and defenders during corners and free-kicks which could see a flurry of penalties being awarded. I must have missed the new rule that says getting whacked in the face by the ball results in a penalty (at Anfield at least).

But if they are going to shake up spot-kick scrutiny, can I suggest the following offences are also punishable by allowing the opposing team to plop the ball on the spot:

- Making that stupid bloody heart shape with your fingers after scoring a goal.
- Wearing brightly coloured headphones or an oversized baseball cap during interviews.
- Not celebrating scoring a goal because you used to play for the other team.

BEFORE we all get too carried away with the Steven Gerrard tributes, let's just wait and see which club he signs for.

If he ends up at the Toronto Toffees, he'll probably be back in the Premier League on the other side of Stanley Park before you can say "soccerball".

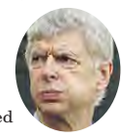
WENG DOES HAVE A SENSE OF HUMOUR!

BLESS dear old Arsene Wenger for his description of the knobhead Arsenal fan who confronted him during his side's 2-0 defeat at Southampton.

After all the stick he's taken, Wenger (below) would have been well within his rights to go to town.

Steve Bould certainly looked ready to rip his head off.

Instead, he not only described the 25-year-old bellend as "a young boy", he also absolved him of any wrongdoing – and pretended he thought he was a Saints fan!



That description alone is punishment enough for the brain-dead buffoon once he finally gets back down his local with his mates trying to boast about how he ripped into the Frenchman.

I'VE had my first "you know you're old when" moment of the new year.

Watching the brilliant Spurs v Chelsea match with my son, I noticed someone in the crowd with what looked like a digital camera stuck on the end of a stick.

"Look at that idiot!" I laughed to my lad.

"It's a selfie-stick, dad," the boy replied.

Not only is this a bona fide piece of new tech, his mate works for them apparently.

Don't people just go to the match to watch the football any more?

RON'S READY FOR SPECIAL EXPERIENCE

Soton v Ipswich

Today, Kick-off 3pm

RONALD KOEMAN admits he can't wait to experience the FA Cup for the first time.

And he insists he will not let Southampton's top-four ambitions take priority over a cup run.

The Saints manager (above) said: "The Cup final was always a special day and got a lot of attention.

"We take every game seriously. We did that in the Capital One Cup and we will do it in the FA Cup.

"I hate losing. The team is good, still the freshness of the players is very positive. I don't like to change a lot."

Ipswich will include ex-Saint Tyrone Mings in their line-up.

The 21-year-old defender is a top target for Premier League clubs, but admits Southampton were right to let him go when he was 16.

Mings said: "I think I've had a much better, well-rounded upbringing and a sight of what the real world is like."

MONTY: JOIN ME AS A SUN CULT HERO

Sunderland v Leeds

Today, Kick-off 1pm

JIMMY MONTGOMERY reckons it's high time someone new joined him in the ranks of Sunderland cult heroes.

Wearside legend "Monty" has been in demand since the Black Cats were paired with Leeds – a repeat of the never-to-be-forgotten 1973 Wembley final.

Second Division Sunderland stunned Don Revie's red-hot favourites 1-0 – and goalkeeper Montgomery's stunning double save to deny Trevor Cherry and Peter Lorimer went down in Cup folklore.

And the 71-year-old said: "The current crop of players have a similar chance to stamp their name in club history.

"It can just take a second to be remembered forever."

Leeds will be backed by 6,000 travelling fans as they bid to put their nightmare league form behind them.

Boss Neil Redfearn said: "Beating Sunderland would give everyone at the club a boost."

Van on a mission to avoid another shocker

ONCE BITTEN: Louis van Gaal is determined to avoid a repeat of United's humiliation by MK Dons (right)

Yeovil v Manchester United

Today, 3.30pm – Live on BT Sport 1

LOUIS VAN GAAL insists he will not make the same mistake twice as Man United tackle a tricky tie at Yeovil.

Van Gaal was criticised for a team of fringe and youth team players as United were humiliated 4-0 in the Capital One Cup by League One side MK Dons back in August.

And he appears to have learned from that day not to underestimate English lower league opposition.

"I had the experience against MK Dons, who are also in League One," said Van Gaal.

"You never know in a cup match, you have to win because you're out if you lose.

"We have to beat Yeovil, but every team in England wants to beat Manchester United, so it will be difficult.

"Everything about playing a lower league team will be different – the pitch, the stadium.

"For the players, it's more difficult to prepare for a match like this, especially after playing so much over Christmas."

Van Gaal will check on Marcos Rojo (thigh), Daley Blind (knee) and Marouane Fellaini (illness), who are all major doubts for the clash at Huish Park.

United are without Ashley Young (hamstring) and Antonio Valenica (groin), while Angel Di Maria is back training after a thigh injury but may not be risked.

The tie offers Yeovil respite from a difficult campaign that sees Gary Johnson's side rooted at the foot of League One.

Giantkilling

And while the visit of Van Gaal's team is a welcome distraction, it also provides a reminder of the time the two clubs last met in the competition in 1949.

Yeovil, then playing in the Southern League, pulled off a giantkilling act by beating Sunderland in the fourth round before losing heavily to cup holders United 8-0 in the following round.

The current group of Yeovil players have been made well aware of the link and skipper Joe Edwards hopes the tie will provide a lift for the remainder of the season, while acknowledging a heavy defeat could have lasting effects.

"It could kill confidence or you could gain confidence from knowing you have played well against a top team," said Edwards.

"Everyone enjoys the FA Cup. We'll enjoy this one and then get back down to the nitty-gritty of the league."

QPR v Sheff Utd

Today, Kick-off 1pm

NEDUM ONUOHA is on a mission to play at Wembley once again.

The QPR defender was part of Harry Redknapp's side that won promotion to the Premier League in the play-off final against Derby last May.

Now Onuoha hopes his team-mates can reach the big stage one more time as Rangers begin their FA Cup campaign with a home tie against League One Sheffield United.

Onuoha said: "Having played at Wembley for the first time at the end of last season, it's the type of thing that I'd recommend for absolutely everybody.

"If you win a couple of games in the competition, then you are there at Wembley again."

A Villa v Blackpool

Today, Kick-off 3pm

NATHAN DELFOUNESO is on a mission to dump former club Villa out of the competition.

The striker joined Blackpool in the summer and he said: "It will be great to see a lot of old faces. I can't wait.

"Hopefully I can play and do a good job. I've never faced Villa before and it will be brilliant."

Villa boss Paul Lambert has saluted Ciaran Clark for filling in for Ron Vlaar on New Year's Day despite having a back problem.

"I didn't want to bring Ciaran on, I wanted to give him a break due to his back," said Lambert.

"But I thought he did ever so well when he came on."

Stoke v Wrexham

Today, Kick-off 3pm

WREXHAM striker Louis Moult says it will be a dream come true to finally play a competitive game at his beloved Britannia Stadium.

The 22-year-old is Stoke born and bred – but suffered the heartbreak of being released by the Potters in 2012.

"I was gutted that all three of the first-team games I played for Stoke were away from home," said Moult.

"I thought the chance to play at the Britannia had gone."

Stoke midfielder Steven Nzonzi has urged his team-mates not to lose momentum after a 1-1 draw against Man United last time out.

He said: "We must keep improving."

THE JOYS ARE BACK IN TOWN

Burnley v Tottenham

Monday, Kick-off 7.45pm

ANDROS TOWNSEND is praying he has finally put his injury torment behind him.

The Tottenham winger (right) saw 2014 wrecked by a succession of injuries that hit his form and ruled him out of England's failed World Cup bid in the summer.

But the 23-year-old has bounced back this season and is keen to continue his revival at Turf Moor tomorrow night.

He admitted: "Obviously, 2014 was not a good year for me with form, fitness and injuries.

"Hopefully, I'm over the worst of it now and the performances are going to be better and I can get back to the form I had in 2013.

"I'm not going to look back. Injuries came at the wrong time, but that's over and in the past – it's a new year and a new start."

Townsend will beg Spurs boss Mauricio Pochettino not to rest him against Burnley.

Superb

He added: "I want to play every game I can and stake a claim for a regular place."

Sam Vokes is set to return for an injury-hit Burnley side that's down to the bare bones.

The striker, 25, made a brief substitute appearance against Liverpool on Boxing Day after nine months out with a knee injury.

Boss Sean Dyche didn't include him for the rest of the holiday programme as the Clarets picked up superb draws at Man City and Newcastle.

But Vokes will figure against Spurs, with both Danny Ings and Ashley Barnes due for a rest.

OF THE 3RD ROUND FA CUP CLASHES

WENG RELIES ON CUP FOR GLORY

Arsenal v Hull

Today, 5.30pm – Live on BBC1

ARSENE WENGER is again targeting the FA Cup as Arsenal's best chance of honours this season.

Wembley success last May ended a nine-year wait for silverware at the Emirates.

And with his side out of the Premier League title race, and rank outsiders for the Champions League, the cup once again is the club's top target for silverware.

Keeper Wojciech Szczesny, though, admits the burden of being holders will add to the pressure – especially as they face beaten finalists Hull in the third round.

The Pole said: "It's a good pressure. You want to be winning trophies and then defending them, so we are looking forward to it.

"We showed last year that we can put a consistent run together in the competition and win it, so we'll be looking to do the same again.

"I am sure Hull will have a point to prove, so it will be an exciting game. But when we play in the FA Cup at home, we are confident.

Revenge

"We were very lucky we got to play every single game at home last year, which was a massive advantage and part of the reason we got to the end.

"We'll be confident but I'm sure they'll want revenge."

Szczesny dropped two howlers to gift Southampton a 2-0 win on New Year's Day and will make way for David Ospina today.

Wenger managed his keepers in the same way last season, with the then No.2 Lukas Fabianski taking the shirt through the knockout competition.

By IAN WINROW

Szczesny added: "I was sitting on the bench for the final – and I can't sit on the bench!

"When I'm on the pitch I don't get nervous at all, but on the bench I just hate it. I watch it and feel all these emotions from the side, so it is completely different."

Hull defender Harry Maguire is relishing the chance to finally have a crack at Arsenal in the cup.

The 21-year-old defender was part of the Sheffield United team that fell at the semi-final hurdle last season and missed the chance to take on the Gunners in the final.

Confidence

The League One Blades were beaten 5-3 at Wembley by Hull, who went on to lose the final.

Now Maguire (left) is a Tiger after his £2.25million move and will get the chance to test himself against the cup holders at the Emirates today.

He said: "We want to go on a good run like we did last year because it was great for our fans and the club.

"We were low in the league at Sheffield United and the FA Cup helped develop some spirit and give us confidence to push up the table.

"I wanted Hull to win the final. They got into a great position but unfortunately just couldn't see it through."

NEED A LIFT: Wenger hoists the FA Cup at Wembley last May, but he will be without Szczesny (inset) for the clash against Hull

Wimbledon v Liverpool

Monday, 7.55pm – Live on BBC1

Mignolet won't be bullied by big Aki

LIVERPOOL keeper Simon Mignolet claims he can cope with whatever AFC Wimbledon's 16-stone bruiser Adebayo Akinfenwa dishes out tomorrow.

Mignolet is set to keep his place for the Reds' third-round tie against the Dons, where he will come up against the powerhouse striker.

And the Belgium shotstopper (below) insists he can handle the rough stuff from the Dons.

"We know what to expect from Wimbledon," Mignolet said. "As a goalkeeper it's the physicality, you know what you will come across and you have to be ready to stand up to that.

"It won't be any different against Akinfenwa and Co on Monday."

Wimbledon skipper Alan Bennett's warned Liverpool to expect an intimidating reception on and off the pitch.

"There is one major upset every year – we need to give ourselves the biggest chance of being the ones to produce it," he said

"We will play up to being the minnows, the fans will make it hostile and we're going to make sure it's uncomfortable for them."

JOSE: BLUES MAY COME A CROPPER

Chelsea v Watford

Today, Kick-off 4pm

JOSE MOURINHO says Chelsea could come a cropper in the FA Cup due to their punishing fixture schedule.

Chelsea have played three games in a week before today's third-round tie with Watford.

But the Championship side have had their feet up for seven days.

And Mourinho (right) says that fatigue could leave his side vulnerable to a potential upset.

He said: "The Championship clubs will be in a better condition than the Premier League clubs.

"But at the same time normally the top-flight clubs have more potential and more qualities, so maybe it's a way to make things level.

"One team has more quality and another team is fresh and ready for the game.

"Maybe with matches between Premier League teams and Championship teams this is a way to level things."

Chelsea are battling on four fronts, but Mourinho says his side will take the competition seriously.

He added: "We will respect the competition, which is a beautiful one, and try to go all the way."

Dover v Crystal Palace

Today, 1pm – Live on BT Sport 1

Pardew: It's great to land back at Eagles

ALAN PARDEW admits he couldn't resist the chance to head back home to Selhurst Park.

The new Palace boss (below) will take charge at Dover for the first time since quitting Newcastle to take charge of the club where he starred as a player.

And he said: "It's somewhere I know well and it's close to my heart in terms of my playing career, so I think it's an opportunity where I can help the club.

"It was difficult because I'm leaving a big club in Newcastle and it was a choice that I felt was right for my family and my career.

"I was here for the Liverpool game last year and it was always a lovely welcome. I knew at some point I would work for this club.

"My home is in this area and that is about as close as you can get as a manager to saying this is your own club."

Non-league Dover will attempt to hand Pardew a nightmare return.

Midfielder Richard Orlu said: "I know Jason Puncheon a little – he's a really nice guy.

"He's an excellent player as well, he's got great feet and he's a huge threat for them."

Pozo desperate to thrill and kill

Man City v Sheff Wed

Today, Kick-off 3pm

KID striker Jose Angel Pozo is itching for a chance to put Sheffield Wednesday to the sword... again.

Manchester City face the Championship outfit in a re-match of their Capital One Cup clash in September, which the Blues won 7-0.

Spaniard Pozo, 18, made his first-team debut and bagged a late goal in that slaughter.

And with boss Manuel Pellegrini nursing injured strikers back to health and keen to rotate his squad, Pozo could get the nod for just his second senior start.

Pozo said: "I will always remember this club, because I made my debut against them and scored.

"So it would be fantastic to play them again and re-live a very happy moment. But just because we won the Capital One Cup game 7-0 doesn't mean this won't be a difficult match.

"We want to do well in this competition. It means a lot to this club because it was the trophy that started a run of success for us.

"Looking ahead, I would like to stay with the first team and have more opportunities to play this season. That's my objective, but we will see what happens."

Wednesday boss Stuart Gray insists his side return to the Etihad full of hope.

"A tie at Manchester City is something to look forward to," he said.

"We are looking forward to it. We go there full of confidence and I am hoping to do better than we did last time.

"It is the Cup and there is always a shock."

If true, there hasn't been a Royal scandal like this since Princess Di was revealed to have been shagging a Major.

The bigger news in sport is that England football royalty Steven Gerrard has announced he is leaving Liverpool at the end of the season, possibly for LA.

So his chances of winning a Premier League medal will be the same again next season.

On the plus side, with all the crime and gang violence in the Californian city, he will feel right at home.

PAST IT: Steven Gerrard

The star was supposed to keep his move to LA Galaxy quiet until the end of the season.

But he slipped up.

I've heard he's going to release a book about his time at Liverpool.

And, just like his time there, the book doesn't yet have a title.

The Reds take on Wimbledon in the FA Cup tomorrow night in a replay of the 1988 final when the Crazy Gang pulled off a famous win.

A ropey-looking woman chatted me up in the pub the other night. She saw me looking at a tattoo on her arm which read "1-11-1988".

She said it was her daughter's date of birth.

I ruined my chances when I told her I thought it was her best before date.

Liverpool are still not at their best and I reckon Wimbledon can get at least a draw and take the tie back to Anfield.

Wes wrecks Blyth dream

MISSED OPPORTUNITY: Blyth players celebrate Dale's double – but their joy turned to agony

WES THOMAS rescued Birmingham as barman Robbie Dale threatened to call time on their FA Cup prospects.

Dale, who works at a pub in Newcastle, hammered two goals that gave Northern Premier League part-timers Blyth a shock lead.

But Blues hit back and scored three times inside six sensational minutes – twice through Thomas and another from Lee Novak.

For more than half the tie, it seemed like City would pay a high price for Gary Rowett's decision to make 10 changes from the team that beat Nottingham Forest in their previous game.

Nikola Zigic was among the players drafted in and the giant striker should have scored when he lashed an early shot over from eight yards.

Poor

But Birmingham were never comfortable as they tried to adapt to the poor surface at Croft Park and Daniel Maguire went close before Blyth struck on 35 minutes.

Dale scored from close range after Jarrett Rivers powered to the byline and pulled the ball back.

Six minutes later it was 2-0 as Dale steered a shot inside the post after Birmingham were caught out by a quickly-taken free-kick.

Blues desperately needed a reaction – and got it inside seven minutes of the restart when former Gateshead striker Novak cut inside and fired home.

Then Thomas surged through to equalise in the 55th minute before heading the winner from close range three minutes later.

RYAN DONALDSON fired the U's into the fourth round for the first time in 15 years with a worthy winner.

Luton skipper Jonathan Smith thumped a cracking 25-yarder against the post early on.

But United went ahead in the 27th minute after Town keeper Mark Tyler brought down Donaldson.

Tyler tipped Robbie Simpson's spot-kick onto the post, but the forward was first to the ball to convert the rebound.

Andy Drury should have levelled after the break but somehow missed an empty goal from six yards out.

Donaldson (left) then hit the bar before making it 2-0 with a cracking solo clincher in the 66th minute.

Michael Harriman headed Luton straight back into it, but Cambridge held on.

Doncaster	1
Bristol City	1

MATT SMITH'S leveller means these two League One sides will have to do it all again a week on Tuesday after a stale-mate in South Yorkshire.

Rovers centre-half Luke McCullough put Doncaster ahead five minutes into the second half, but City striker Smith (left) ensured a replay with his header on 75 minutes.

Jay Emmanuel-Thomas and Todd Kane both saw shots beaten away by Rovers keeper Sam Johnstone.

Donny's best chance of the first half fell to James Coppinger, who was crowded out in the area.

Rovers sub Kyle Bennett blazed over in added time when he had the opportunity to settle the tie.

And Joe Bryan's shot with the last kick of the match was blocked by the Doncaster defence with the ball heading for the far corner.

YESTERDAY'S 3RD ROUND FA CUP CLASHES

Martin Rams in penalty sickener

Derby	1
Southport	0

SUBSTITUTE Chris Martin broke Southport hearts with a late penalty.

The Conference side had looked like frustrating their Championship opponents, with Spanish keeper David Raya Martin in superb form.

The Blackburn loanee made a string of superb saves and was only beaten from the spot in the 90th minute after Luke Foster fouled Johnny Russell.

The first half saw Derby struggle to break down the massed ranks of the Southport defence.

The visitors regularly had eight or nine men behind the ball and at one set-piece pulled everyone back to defend.

Derby still managed to fashion a series of chances, but were unable to convert any of them.

Best missed the best of the lot, blasting his shot high over the bar from eight yards after Craig Bryson's effort had hit the post.

Paul Coutts tried his luck from outside the area but Raya Martin was equal to it with a diving save.

Derby left-back Lee Naylor got forward to find Ryan Shotton unmarked with a peach of a cross, but the right-back looped his header harmlessly wide.

The second half followed a similar pattern, with Raya Martin making a double save to keep out Bryson and Ward.

A replay was close until Martin's spot-kick clincher.

Middlesbro	2

JELLE VOSSEN and Daniel Ayala both struck in the second half as 10-man Boro breezed past League One Barnsley.

The Championship side dominated the first half but couldn't find a way past their former keeper Ross Turnbull.

But three minutes into the second half a mix-up in the Barnsley defence allowed Vossen to take the ball into the area and fire a low shot past Turnbull.

Kike headed against the bar and Patrick Bamford nearly netted from a tight angle as Boro continued to attack with pace.

And Boro made it two when Ayala headed in Grant Leadbitter's corner.

Reading	1

NICK BLACKMAN came off the bench to fire Reading's winner.

Blackman grabbed his fifth of season and his first since October after coming on as a half-time sub.

The Championship rivals served up an hour of bilge before Huddersfield carved out the first chance.

James Vaughan headed over from Tommy Smith's cross to finally jolt the Royals to life.

And Blackman swapped passes with Hal Robson-Kanu to fire past Alex Smithies from 15 yards on 70 minutes.

Town striker Nahki Wells found the side-netting with a near-post flick from Conor Coady's corner.

The Terriers finished with 10 men when Jonathan Hogg earned a second yellow.

Preston	2

PAUL GALLAGHER'S love-hate affair with the FA Cup continued as his double effort pulled off an upset for Preston.

Last season he bagged a hat-trick against Barnet in the cup – but missed a penalty this term in the second-round win over Shrewsbury.

That left the veteran Scottish hitman claiming he had mixed feelings about the famous competition.

Now he has carried Simon Grayson's side into the fourth round after his clinical 71st-minute strike put Preston in control.

Jack King headed across goal and Gallagher buried a shot past John Ruddy.

And five minutes from time, the on-loan Leicester striker blasted in his second from 15 yards.

IT'S BERA GOOD START FOR PULIS

FOUR-MIDABLE: Berahino showed Pulis (inset) how deadly he is in front of goal

Saido bags four to get new Albion boss off to flyer

West Brom	7
Gateshead	0

SAIDO BERAHINO fired four goals to give Tony Pulis a flying start to his managerial reign at West Brom.

Chris Brunt, Victor Anichebe and James Morrison were also on target – but amazingly, Albion's progress to the fourth round was not as comfortable as the scoreline suggests.

Conference side Gateshead were the better team for much of the first half, showing why Pulis feared they would make life difficult for his top-flight stars.

The new Baggies boss decided to select seven of the players who featured in their last league game against West Ham.

And the men he called up – Anichebe, Craig Dawson, Sebastien Pocognoli and goalkeeper Boaz Myhill – all had plenty of experience.

But Gateshead settled quickly and Pulis left his seat in the stands and moved to the touchline inside the opening 15 minutes.

By then, Albion could easily have been behind. Michael Rankine fired straight at Myhill, while Alex Rodman, Matty Pattison and John Oster also had chances.

Albion's nerves were finally settled, however, when Berahino struck three minutes before the break.

Cruel

Brunt's free-kick reached the young striker and he powered his 10th goal of the season into the roof of the net.

It was cruel on Gateshead, but there was worse to come for Gary Mills' outfit in first-half stoppage time.

Anichebe drove in West Brom's second goal that left them with a mountain to climb.

And Gateshead were swept aside by three goals inside 11 minutes at the start of the second half.

Berahino scored his second, curling a superb shot inside the post after being set up by Brunt, then completed his hat-trick when he swept in a cross from Chris Baird.

It was now one-way traffic as Brunt grabbed the fifth goal in the 56th minute.

Fulham	0

Clarke's the cock-up king after open goal howler

LEON CLARKE was left red-faced after missing a gilt-edged chance to fire Wolves into the fourth round.

The striker held his head in his hands after firing wide in front of an open goal midway through the first half after Bakary Sako's shot hit the post.

That meant Sako was denied the chance to sign off for his African Cup of Nations campaign with Mali in style.

And with neither team capable of creating a better opportunity, Clarke's howler meant this dour clash ended in stalemate – with a replay at Molineux to come.

Both managers had been at pains to point out they were desperate to do well in the competition.

Fulham manager Kit Symons took a trip down memory lane before the tie to recall his journey to the semi-finals as a player with Portsmouth in 1992.

And Wolves boss Kenny Jackett experienced the final four when his Millwall side lost to Wigan two years ago.

Acrobatic

But the managers' enthusiasm didn't appear to have transmitted itself to the players during a dull opening half-hour.

And after Clarke's cock-up, neither side could conjure the moment of quality to settle the tie once and for all.

Fulham's Hugo Rodallega came close to breaking the deadlock with two acrobatic overhead kicks towards the end of the first half.

And Cottagers keeper Marcus Bettinelli pulled off a couple of top-notch saves in the second period.

First, he reacted well to keep out Jack Price's effort.

Then he stood his ground to divert James Henry's shot onto the post after the Wolves winger had capitalised on a slip by Shaun Hutchinson.

Sako came close once again with an excellent curling shot that had Bettinelli beaten.

Brentford	0	Brighton	2

LEWIS DUNK and Chris O'Grady helped Chris Hughton launch his Brighton reign with a third-round win.

Dunk and O'Grady (below) struck late on to send Hughton's men through against Brentford.

But the new Seagulls boss will know his new side were lucky to progress.

Andre Gray was wasteful for the Bees, with Jota and Jon Toral also blowing first-half chances.

Top-scorer Gray should have done better than screw his shot wide on the hour mark.

Both sides threw men forward in search of a winner as March and O'Grady hit the woodwork for the south coast club.

But Dunk was the head boy as he glanced home in the 88th minute.

ROVERS 'N OUT AFTER GOM PAIR

BAFETIMBI GOMIS helped Swansea finally end brave Tranmere's hopes of a cup miracle after a rollercoaster win at Prenton Park.

Garry Monk made nine changes from the Swans side that battled their way to a 1-1 draw with QPR on New Year's Day, and at times it showed as his men had to fight hard to beat Micky Adams battling side.

But a brace from Gomis and further goals from Nathan Dyer, Tom Carroll, Mo Barrow and Wayne Routledge helped move them a step closer to Wembley. The game had a slow start but as the first half continued, Swansea settled into the clash.

Tranmere	2
Swansea	6

Scrappy

The Swans finally broke down Tranmere 10 minutes before half-time when Dyer crashed home an effort from inside the box after a scrappy build-up saw the ball fall nicely onto his right foot and he did the rest.

Straight after the break, Swansea twisted the knife as Carroll jinked his way into the area and slipped a shot past Owain Fon Williams.

With half-an-hour left, Barrow appeared to have put the game to bed when he slipped home Gomis' simple pass. However, in a crazy end to the game, both sides just kept scoring as Tranmere attempted a brave comeback.

Max Power pulled one back for Rovers with 20 minutes left as he charged down Gerhard Tremmel's clearance.

That gave the Birkenhead boys an extra burst of life.

But it all looked to be over when Gomis then popped up to make it 4-1 with a low shot past Fon Williams with just 13 minutes left.

However, Cole Stockton then showed again that the home side had not given up completely as he nodded home from six yards.

But sub Routledge and Gomis both slotted home late on finally kill Tranmere off.

LEO SLAYER: Ulloa is mobbed after netting the Foxes opener

Taylor made for knockout blow

THE lights went out on Charlton's FA Cup campaign as Chris Taylor scored twice to send Blackburn through.

The midfielder netted just his second and third goals, either side of floodlight failure at the Valley, in his 46th game since arriving from Millwall to send a dagger through the hearts of their south London rivals.

Taylor got off the mark after just two minutes as he rose in the box to meet Craig Conway's cross from the left and plant a header into the bottom corner from eight yards out.

Charlton	1
Blackburn	2

Charlton had their best chance when skipper Johnnie Jackson blazed over the bar after the visitors only half-cleared George Tucudean's cross.

The lights then went out for 12 minutes just before the half-hour mark. When they came back on, Johann Gudmundsson was the Addicks' best threat.

He equalised 10 minutes after half-time with a brilliant free-kick that dipped into the bottom corner from 25 yards out.

But Charlton were level for just four minutes as Chris Brown did brilliantly to create a yard to cross before finding Taylor (right), who blasted a winner into the roof of the net from 12 yards out.

CRUNCH 3RD ROUND FA CUP GAMES!

TAME TOON CARVED UP BY ULLOA

Leo keeps Foxes on the up

By IAN BAKER

WHAT a week for Leicester!

Seven days ago they were down and out – now there's fresh life breathed into them.

Leo Ulloa's first-half header gave them a third positive result of the week as they added to Newcastle's troubles.

After Alan Pardew left for Crystal Palace, the Toon badly needed a boost.

But they produced a lacklustre display instead and were KO'd from the cup under the caretaker charge of John Carver.

Nigel Pearson will have feared the worst this time last week.

He can now reflect on seven days that saw his side win 1-0 at Hull and then draw 2-2 at Liverpool before this successful cup clash.

Nuisance

Both sides made seven changes to their sides following league matches on New Year's Day.

But it was Leicester's line-up that looked far stronger, and they were on the front foot from the off.

Pearson handed a debut to ex-Manchester United youngster Tom Lawrence and he was a nuisance for Toon.

Ulloa went close with one hooked effort from a Lawrence corner, while Lawrence himself sliced wide after Jak Alnwick had spilled Anthony Knockaert's cross.

The hosts suffered a big blow when Esteban Cambiasso was forced off midway through the first half injured.

But his replacement Marc Albrighton enjoyed a lively sub outing after seeing chances limited so far this season.

Denied

Matty James shot just wide from 30 yards as Leicester looked for the opener.

But it was Newcastle who were denied a stunning opener by the linesman's flag.

Vurnon Anita's run and pass was flicked on by Emmanuel Riviere and Remy Cabella found the net before celebrations were cut short.

But it was Leicester who took the lead on 39 minutes.

A short corner routine involving Knockaert and Albrighton led to James firing in a shot which Ulloa deflected in off his head.

Newcastle were a threat in attack at the start of the second half, with Adam Armstrong foiled by a decent stop from Ben Hamer. The Foxes rediscoverd their confidence and nearly scored a second after a fine move involving Dave Nugent, Ulloa and Albrighton.

And from the resulting Knockaert corner, Liam Moore headed just wide.

Alnwick then made a sensational stop to keep his side in it after sub Chris Wood's diving header from Albrighton's excellent cross looked to be going in.

The 21-year-old shot-stopper then made another fine dive to foil Albrighton from the edge of the area.

Newcastle continued to threaten an equaliser and Vuckic went close when his free-kick from the edge of the area was deflected wide for a corner. At the other end, sub Jamie Vardy – on for Ulloa – saw an angled effort from Knockaert's pass well saved by Alnwick.

Frustrated Toon fans sang: "We're shit and we're sick of it."

But their side could not produce a late response as Leicester made their way into round four comfortably.

Booed

They came close to a second goal as Wes Morgan's header hit the bar from Knockaert's late corner.

Newcastle need to resolve their manager situation as their fans once again sang their displeasure at owner Mike Ashley and booed their side off.

RUBBISH: Toon fans show their anger towards the players and Carver (above)

ZACH TO THE FUTURE FOR TROTTERS

TEENAGER Zach Clough sealed a dream debut by firing Bolton through and ending Wigan's remarkable FA Cup run.

Academy star Clough, 19, was handed a first senior call-up by Bolton boss Neil Lennon.

And the local lad grasped his chance with both hands by capping a superb display with a 76th-minute winner.

Clough (right) ran onto a pass from Liam Trotter and clipped the ball over Ali Al-Habsi, who had threatened to deny his former club all afternoon.

Wigan would barely have deserved it – but the 2013 winners don't know how to lose in this competition.

Apart from a penalty shootout defeat to Arsenal in last season's competition, the Latics had not been beaten since January 2012.

Al-Habsi did his best to try to preserve that record in only his second start of the season.

The Oman international came flying out to deny Liam Feeney on 10 minutes.

The 33-year-old also saved from Liam Trotter, while Feeney, David Wheater and Emile Heskey all missed decent chances.

Al-Habsi then denied Clough and Craig Davies before Wigan, struggling against the drop from the Championship, almost nicked the lead through Adam Forshaw's header which was saved in superb fashion by Adam Bogdan.

But this was to be Clough's day and his cool head on young shoulders kept the Lennon bandwagon rolling on nicely.

Bolton	1
Wigan	0

Rotherham	1
Bournemouth	5

YANN KERMORGANT ran riot as Bournemouth took advantage of Rotherham's second-half collapse.

It all started so well for the Millers when Richard Brindley drilled a low shot into a crowded area.

It took a wicked deflection to leave Lee Camp with no chance.

But the Cherries were level when Kermorgant found Shaun MacDonald racing through and he clipped his finish past Adam Collin.

Bournemouth bossed the second half and took the lead when Junior Stanislas took the ball around Collin.

Ryan Fraser made it 3-1 with a drilled finish after Kermorgant's backheel, and the French striker got his name on the score-sheet when he tucked in a Stanislas cross.

Kermorgant added a fifth after Collin could only parry Gosling's header up into the air.

Millwall	3
Bradford	3

MILLWALL and Bradford will face each other again after they fought out a six-goal thriller at the Den.

The League One side took a deserved lead on seven minutes when Billy Knott struck a low shot from eight yards.

The Lions roared back on 36 minutes when Scott McDonald headed home from a Lee Martin cross.

David Forde saved a Knott volley before the break and Ricardo Fuller put the Lions in front on 66 minutes after a McDonald cross.

But the Bantams equalised four minutes later with a bizarre own goal – James Hanson's shot going in off Sid Nelson.

Knott netted his second with a first-time shot to stun the home fans, before Fuller struck again on 84 minutes to take the tie back to Valley Parade.

Rochdale	1
N Forest	0

LIGHTNING struck twice at Spotland as Keith Hill's heroes pipped Forest.

Victory wasn't as clear cut as last season's 2-0 triumph over Leeds as they needed a gift penalty netted by Peter Vincenti on 13 minutes.

But there was no denying the League One battlers were good value.

Michail Antonio had time to clear before Joe Rafferty forced him into the spot-kick trip.

And a woeful backpass from skipper Jack Hobbs should have given away a second on half-time.

Kevin Wilson spared his blushes with a great tackle as Jamie Allen shaped to shoot.

Forest bucked up their ideas in the second half and Chris Burke's pace tested Dale to the limit.

But home keeper Josh Lillis – felled in a first-half collision – made a save to deny Britt Assombalonga on 52 minutes.

WALKER STOPS HEARTS FAILURE

JAMIE WALKER kept Hearts' unbeaten run intact with a superb derby leveller.

Walker ensured his side kept up their Championship title push after Jason Cummings has fired Hibs into the lead.

The visitors were almost in front within seconds of kick-off amid a raucous atmosphere inside the Gorgie ground.

A poor ball from Alim Ozturk was pounced on by Cummings, but his 20-yarder was straight at Neil Alexander and comfortably blocked by the Hearts goalkeeper.

Hearts weren't too far away when Walker picked out Danny Wilson from a corner and the skipper nodded just wide.

But it was Hibs who sparked wild celebrations among the travelling support when they surged into the lead in the 24th minute.

A lovely cross from Scott Allan on the right picked out Cummings at the back post and he slotted home his third goal in as many games.

But Hearts were level five minutes before half-time thanks to a ferocious 25-yard strike from Walker that left keeper Mark Oxley with no chance.

Hibs sub Callum Booth almost snatched a late winner but his volley was cleared off the line by Callum Paterson.

UNBEATABLE: Jamie Walker celebrates his leveller for Hearts after (below) Jason Cummings gets a hug from Scott Allan for his opener

Big Mac is back on track

KENNY McDOWALL put his painful introduction behind him to secure his first win as Rangers boss.

The caretaker manager had a torrid time last week as his side were humiliated 4-0 by Hibs.

But they responded to Andy Graham's opener with goals from Jon Daly, Lee Wallace and Dean Shiels to finally give McDowall something to smile about.

It was far from a perfect display, but the Light Blues did show progress as they trimmed Hearts' Championship lead back to 13 points.

And they didn't do it the easy way, gifting the Sons a shock lead after 15 minutes.

Chris Turner's corner was floated long to the back post where both Lee McCulloch and keeper Steve Simonsen failed to deal with it.

Instead, Colin Nish nodded down for Graham to force the ball over the line and give the men from the Rock hope of a first win over Gers since 1891.

Rangers	3
Dumbarton	1

But the home fans' anxiety was eased when Daly got his knee to a deflected Steven Smith cross to wrong-foot keeper Danny Rogers.

And Gers were in front three minutes before the break – thanks to a real beauty.

Kenny Miller's control allowed David Templeton to fire the ball out to the left for Smith.

He drove forward and found Wallace (left) on the edge of the box, who rifled his low shot in off the base of the post.

The Glasgow giants almost threw their lead away, though, as Fraser Aird had to block Mitch Megginson's close-range attempt, before Chris Kane volleyed over a golden chance as the match moved into stoppage time.
